U. N. Orders Palestine Peace

Italian Strikes Break Up

More Planes Aiding Berlin

(By Associated Press)

The United Nations security council today threatened Arabs and Jews with possible international sanctions unless they end the Palestine war by Sunday night. But in the midst of the bid for peace, turmoil continued in the world's trouble spots.

In Italy the communist general strike broke up today against the rock-like stand of the de Gasperi government. New disorders erupted in Bologna, Milan and Palermo, however, in the aftermath of the shooting of Palmiro Togliatti, darling of Moscow and leading Italian red

Fist fighting disrupted the chamber of deputies where the communists were trying to unseat Premier Alcide de Gasperi, who announced he would use force to break the "insurrection." Togliatti developed pneumonia from his three wounds.

The U. S. mobilized 60 more Superfortresses for the Berlin food run. The Russians notified the U. S. and Britain her fighter planes would train in the 20-mile wide corridors to the land blockaded city. The western planes flew on.

CALLED 'BRUTAL'

The American military government called the Russian action a "brutal starvation blockade" in a broadcast telling Berliners they have the right to demand a lifting of the squeeze.

Possible retaliatory measures mentioned in Berlin were closing of the Panama canal to Russian ships, quarantining Russian ships in U. S. harbors and forcing Russian representatives out of Japan for "technical" reasons.

Decision of the United Nations to force a halt in the Palestine war was regarded as the strongest action yet taken by the world organization.

The council's order call for an end of fighting in Jerusalem by tonight. It invoked for the first time the punitive sections of the U.N. charter, opening the door to international sanctions if the truce fails.

Arab states opposed the entire action, and some points were opposed by Israel, but U.N. diplomats were confident both sides would comply with the order.

Volunteer Date Fixed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Eighteen-year-olds who want to avoid being drafted next year can start volunteering in the armed forces next Wednesday, July 21.

The date was set by Secretary of Defense Forrestal.

Under the draft law, all young men 18 through 25 must register, but none can be drafted until reaching the age of 19.

However, 18-year-olds become draft-subject on their 19th birthday—unless they're already in service for a special one-year hitch, followed by a longer period in the reserves.

The new law limits the annual total of these enlistments to: Army 110,000; Navy 36,000, including 6,000 Marines; Air Force 15,000. For the first four weeks after July 21, the Army will accept 10,000 men: Navy-Marines 3,000; Air Force 1,300.

Weather Due To Stay Humid

The weatherman promises little relief today from the warm, humid weather which is becoming a daily source of complaint. Although showers are forecast for tonight, little change in temperature is expected for several days.

Yesterday Cincinnati recorded the highest temperature in the state with a temperature of 89.

Castaways Were Only 'Getaways'

BOSTON—(AP)—Sympathy almost burst buttons on blue-coated bosoms today when two bedraggled men were found clinging to driftwood in Boston harbor. The "castaways" said they had been in the water 23 hours—since their fishing boat sank.

A police boat rushed them ashore; a waiting police ambulance hurried them to City hospital. The press interviewed and photographed the pair.

"Yep," said Maj. George Mulcahy, master of the Deer Island house of correction, as he later scanned the photos, "they're William A. Grinnell of Portland, Oregon, and William Strachen of Boston. They escaped from the island yesterday where they were each doing six months."

Red faces and blue tunics contrast nicely.

Republicans Set to Mow Ballot Crop

Describe Congress Recall as 'Trick'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republicans whetted their legislative knives today to chop down any political crops which may sprout from President Truman's "turnip day" recall of the 80th Congress.

Vigorously they assailed Mr. Truman's summons to return July 26 as "cheap politics" but they also dropped broad hints that if there is any vote harvest to be gathered in the special session it will not be a one-party reaping.

One member of the House Republican steering committee, who refused to allow use of his name, suggested that GOP lawmakers may open some investigations of the Democratic administration.

Just what might be investigated he did not say. But he told reporters one or two good investigations could provide a lot of campaign ammunition for the Republican party.

Mr. Truman issued his summons yesterday for the return of what he has called about the "worst Congress" in history. Acting just 12 hours after winning the Democratic nomination in a north-south splintered convention, the President said "an extraordinary occasion requires" the special session.

He told the convention he wants congress to act on nine major problems: inflation, housing, education, health, civil rights, minimum wage boosts, social security, public power and displaced persons.

In Missouri, the President said, July 26 is "turnip day"—the best day to sow seed for a good harvest. But it was clear that in calling back Republican lawmakers on that date to make good on their platform promises it was a Democratic vote harvest Mr. Truman had in mind.

Wheelchair Patient Shot After Fight

MEMPHIS, Tenn — (AP) — A wheelchair patient at the Kennedy Veterans hospital here was held today for shooting and wounding a fellow paralegic after a fist fight that ended with both paralyzed men on the floor.

Wallace Rice of Amarillo, Tex., said by authorities to have the highest I-Q of all patients here, was accused of shooting Richard Hicks of Canalou, Mo., in one of his useless legs.

According to Dr Clyde M. Beck, manager of the hospital, Rice fired three times at Hicks' head as the latter slept. The gun did not fire.

He wheeled himself back to his own bed, Beck said, checked the weapon, fired a shot under his bed, then wheeled back to Hicks and shot him in the leg.

Wednesday night Rice and Hicks became involved in a fight while both were in their wheelchairs, Beck said, "belaboring each other with their fists until they fell from their chairs."

11 RAIDERS KILLED

SINGAPORE —(UP)— Malaya police today killed 11 men who raided a rubber estate at Kajang.

FCC Says 'No' to N-J On Radio

Minority Objects; Case In U. S. Court

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Mansfield News-Journal and the Lorain Journal were denied radio station permits by the Federal Communications commission yesterday on grounds they were not qualified.

In a 3-2 decision, the FCC ruled against the two papers on the grounds their management in the past attempted to "suppress competition in the dissemination of news."

(The two newspapers already have appealed the FCC's findings and its proposed decision to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia. The appeal to the court was filed last April 2 after the FCC first made known its proposed decision on the newspapers' application. The court appeal has not yet been placed on the docket for hearing.)

A minority opinion, signed by Commissioners Robert F. Jones and George E Sterling, said both papers were qualified for licenses

(Commissioner Jones, who objects to the FCC majority decision against the newspapers, is the commissioner who stood alone against the commission majority in the wholesale granting of radio licenses to Edward Lamb, Toledo lawyer, author of a book praising communism in Russia and charged in Congress as being "saturated and drenched in communist writings, associations and affiliations." Lamb surrendered his Mansfield radio permit two days before Congress voted to investigate the FCC and its radio station licensing practices.)

PRAISE NEWSPAPER PLANS

Jones and Sterling, in their minority report, said the record of the case made it "apparent" that the Mansfield paper's competitive practices "seem to be en-

Steel Wage Hike Given

Boost Averages 13 Cents Hourly

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— U. S. Steel corporation and the CIO-United Steelworkers today reached agreement on a pay increase averaging 13 cents hourly.

The steel company at the same time announced it has no alternative but to raise prices to meet resultant higher labor costs.

The increases, it was learned, will range from 9½ cents an hour for common laborers such as sweepers and janitors to 24 cents an hour for highly-skilled workers, such as blooming mill rollers and bessemer blowers.

Negotiations on the new contract had been carried on for several weeks after U. S. Steel abandoned its anti-wage raise experiment, which it adopted in April. At that time "Big Steel" refused to raise wages and instead cut prices $25,000,000, hoping that other industries would follow its lead in a battle against inflation.

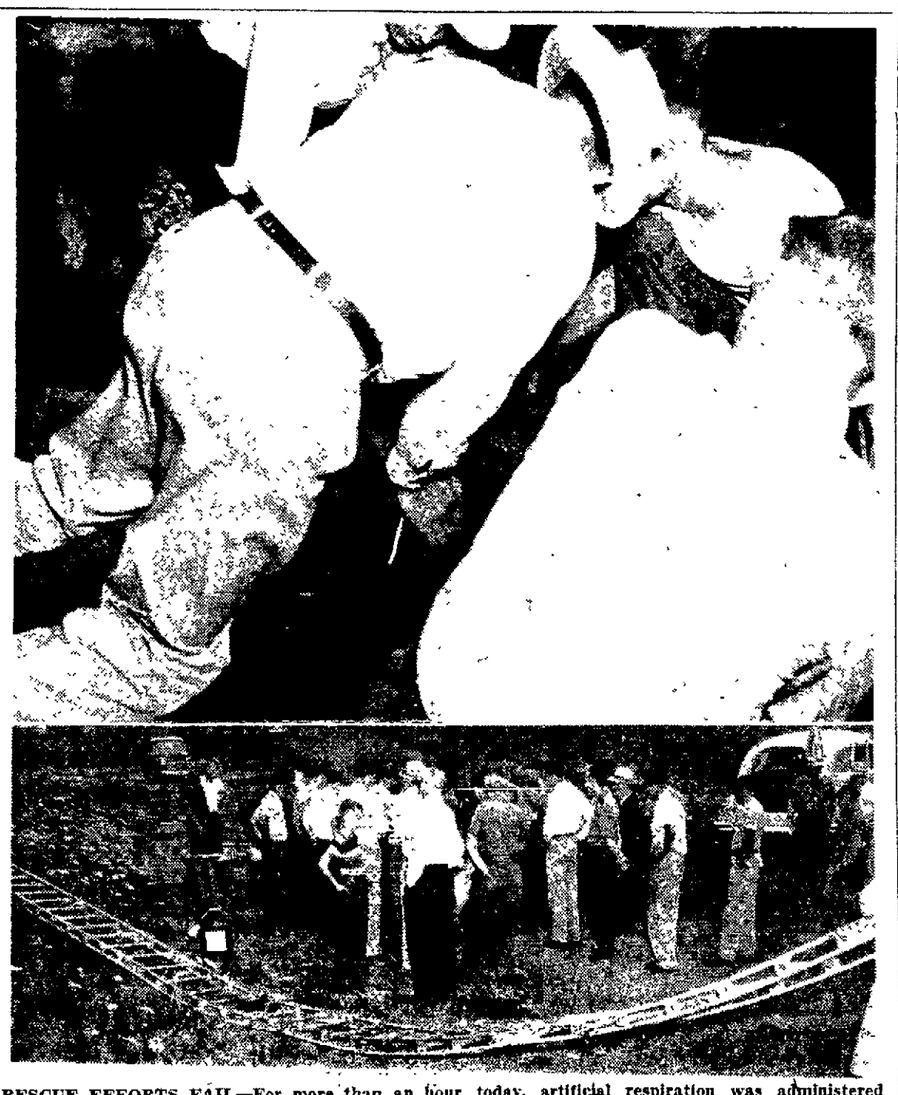
But with the breaking of the wage line in the electrical, automotive, coal, and other industries, U. S Steel reconsidered its stand and granted the third round increase, which now is expected to set a pattern for the nation's other steelmakers.

If the U S Steel agreement is used as the yardstick, as it has been in the past, a total of 900,000 steelworkers will receive the wage hike

McGregor to Check City Post Office

Congressman J. Harry McGregor will visit the Mansfield post office Aug. 11. McGregor is a member of the House of Representatives from the 17th Congressional district of Ohio. He serves on the public buildings committee in the House.

His visit is being planned for 7:30 a. m., the time when all employes are in the post office and crowded conditions are at their worst. It is hoped that his inspection will bring to the attention of the legislators Mansfield's need for expanded postal facilities.



RESCUE EFFORTS FAIL—For more than an hour today, artificial respiration was administered (top) to Howard E. Racer, 37, but the Mansfield Metal Vault company's foreman died of an electric shock suffered when a metal ladder touched a high tension wire. Below, the curved ladder lies on the ground in the yard of the Sears-Roebuck warehouse as a small group of onlookers watch the futile effort to revive Racer.—(News-Journal photo by Glenn Prosser)

Crawford Grand Jury to Act

Squeeze Tightened On 'Slot' Activities

The first sign of a crack-up in slot machine activities in the Mansfield area appeared on the horizon today in Bucyrus and Ashland.

Leo J. Scanlon, Crawford county prosecutor, declared he is continuing a grand jury investigation in Bucyrus of charges that state liquor inspectors tried to shake down operators of private clubs holding liquor licenses. He said he would call a special session of the grand jury within a short time

An Ashland county grand jury already has indicted Bartley Bowers, who gave Mansfield as his address, on four gambling counts. He will be given a preliminary hearing Wednesday in common pleas court.

Meanwhile, in Sandusky, the board of governors of the Erie county Liquor Dealers association will meet with the state liquor control board and permit holders to discuss the liquor-gambling situation there.

TELLS OF COMPLAINTS

Prosecutor Scanlon of Bucyrus, said that his office had received complaints from permit holders that state liquor law enforcement officers were cooperating with "big-time" out-of-town gamblers in trying to shakedown local permit holders for $25 a week.

Meanwhile, reports were prevalent in Mansfield that several private clubs operate slot machines on premises where liquor is offered. Theodore Lutz, county prosecutor, said, however, that no complaints of a shakedown had reached his office.

George Cermak, of Sandusky, agent in charge of liquor enforcement in a number of counties that include Ashland, Crawford and Richland, refused to comment when the News-Journal asked whether his office had a report that Mansfield private liquor clubs also housed slot machines.

WON'T TALK

He also refused to comment when asked if his office was going to do something about the evidence uncovered in the Crawford county investigation

In Akron, Frank L. Krebs, member of the Ohio board of liquor control, blasted county officials who tolerate slot machine operations in drinking spots.

He warned that unless slots are taken out of private clubs and cafes selling intoxicating liquor, state liquor funds would be withheld from offending counties.

The board heard 15 cases in three days in Akron and revoked three permits

Man Held In Shooting

Suspect Denies Wounding Woman

A 36-year-old Louis street woman was in General hospital today, victim of a bullet, apparently meant for another woman. The condition of the woman, Mrs. Maybelle Carpenter, 94 Louis street, was described as "fair."

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson said the woman was shot in the left thigh last night, the bullet passing completely through and grazing the woman's right thigh.

A 42-year-old Crystal Springs street man was detained by investigating deputies. The sheriff said that Mrs. Carpenter, when the man confronted her in General hospital, asked: "What did you shoot me for?" but that the man denied firing the shot.

The shooting was investigated by Deputies Norman M. Smaltz and Foster Palmer. Smaltz said the weapon was not recovered but a bullet found in the vicinity of the shooting was either of .32 or .25 caliber.

PURSUED WIFE

Smaltz said that the detained man had pursued his wife into the Carpenter house following an argument. His wife has been residing there.

The man's wife ran upstairs, she told Smaltz, and Mrs. Carpenter went out on the back porch. The man, possibly mistaking her for the other woman, fire several shots from the alley

Every youngster gets a slice of the prize melon with the champion representing Mansfield in the finals at Akron, Aug. 15. In addition the champion and his parents receive a one-week trip to Washington, D. C.

In case of rain the Mansfield Derby will be held next Saturday.

4,000 Volts Cause Death Of Foreman

A Mansfield Metal Vault company foreman was killed and three of his crew burned early today when a steel ladder they were attempting to put up on the Sears-Roebuck warehouse on Longview avenue touched an Ohio Public Service high tension line, sending 4,000 volts into their bodies.

Dead:

Howard Elmer Racer, 37, of 29½ South Broadway, Shelby.

Injured:

Larry Edwards, 19, of 589 Grant street, Mansfield.

Leslie Hershner, 33, of Johnsville.

Eugene Shaffer, 25, of Lexington.

Racer was pronounced dead at General hospital at 9:15 a. m despite efforts of central station firemen and doctors to revive him.

Hershner, most seriously burned of the other three men, suffered second-degree burns of the feet. All three men were treated at the hospital and released.

Central station firemen were called to the warehouse at 7:55 a. m. Racer, only one of the four knocked unconscious by the current, was given artificial respiration supplemented by the respirator from Central station until nearly 8:45 a. m. when he was removed to General hospital.

OXYGEN ADMINISTERED

At the hospital, adrenaline was injected directly into Racer's heart and oxygen administered. All efforts failed and he was pronounced dead at 9:15 a. m. by Dr. D. C. Lavender, Richland county coroner.

Although there were no immediate witnesses to the accident, it was believed all four men had their hands on the ladder at the time, but that Racer took the full force of the current.

The specially-curved ladder to fit the steel hut warehouse was being used to replace the roof on the building. Mansfield Metal Vault officials, sub-contractors for the job, being done by Great Lakes Steel corporation, said the crew had been working on the job for 15 days.

WIRES TOUCH LADDER

It was believed the end of the ladder caught the high tension wire as it was being put up. The wires, running from a transformer behind the warehouse, pass only a few feet from the building, approximately at the roof line.

R. D. Iden, distribution manager of the OPS said the line carries approximately 7,200 volts but that only 4,000 volts can be grounded.

Surviving Racer are his wife, Louise; three small children, Larry Dale, Lucia and Merlene, and his mother, Mrs. Isabell Racer, all of Shelby.

The body has been removed to the Finefrock funeral home pending arrangements.

Ott Quits, Leo Takes His Giants

NEW YORK—(UP)—Mel Ott resigned today as manager of the New York Giants, Leo Durocher replaced him and Burt Shotton was named to take over the Brooklyn Dodgers in a sensational baseball swap

The first part of the announcement was made in New York, when President Horace Stoneham of the Giants revealed that Ott had quit to take a front office job and that Durocher would succeed him.

Then in Cincinnati President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers announced that Durocher would be replaced by Shotton, the same man who took over last year when Durocher was suspended for a year.

There had been a great deal of pressure on Ott as the Giants tumbled from the National league lead to fourth place.

UNDER FIRE

Durocher was under fire in Brooklyn for the Dodgers' poor showing earlier this season, although the team now is in fifth place and has won eight of the last 10 games.

But Durocher insisted today that he had resigned—that he had not been fired. He refused, however, to answer the question: "Were you asked to resign?"

Durocher will take over the Giants in Pittsburgh tonight. Shotton will take the Dodger helm at Cincinnati this afternoon. And Ott was headed for a month's vacation before assuming a place in the Giant front office.

Shotton has been serving as a "managers' adviser" in the Brooklyn organization. But Rickey always held over Durocher the trump card—that he could call upon his old friend Shotton to take the Dodgers at any time, just as he did last year, when he led the team to the National league pennant.

Hager Wins Once More

DAYTON—Manfield's Al Hager fired a two-over-par 73 this morning to defeat Tony Ruddy of Toledo and advance to the semi-final round of the Ohio Amateur Golf tournament.

Hager was paired to play Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati, three-time Ohio champion, in an 18-hole semi-final match this afternoon.

The 24-year old Westbrook star was two up at the end of nine holes, but slipped to fall one down at the end of the 14th. He birdied the 15th to tie, parred the 16th to go ahead and stayed even the rest of the way

Plan Rites For General

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A mournful America prepared a final tribute for Gen. John J. Pershing today as flags flew at half-mast in silent homage to the fallen hero of World War I.

For further details about General Pershing, see Page 11.

Force to victory 30 years ago will be laid to rest with honors that may surpass the historic rites for the unknown soldier and Admiral Dewey.

Pershing's body will lie in state for 24 hours this Sunday and Monday in the rotunda of the U. S. capitol on a catafalque of rough pine boards built in 1865 to serve as bier for Abraham Lincoln.

The great soldier, who died Thursday morning at Walter Reed hospital at the age of 87, will be the 12th American to be so honored.

Tentative OK Given By FCC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The communications commission announced today a tentative decision to award Cleveland Broadcasting Inc., a new standard broadcast station and to deny the application of Scripps-Howard Radio Inc., for a similar station.

The proposed new station would operate on 1300 kilocycles with 5,000 watts power, unlimited time.

Paige Wins Second Tilt In Relief

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Indians today breathed somewhat easier after extending their American league lead from one-half game to two and a half games over the Philadelphia Athletics.

With Steve Gromek, Bob Lemon and Satchel Paige supplying some fine pitching and the Tribe's booming bats adding four home runs, the Redskins took both ends of a twilight-night doubleheader, 6-1 and 8-5, before 37,684 fans in Philadelphia.

The double killing gave the Indians 10 triumphs over the A's this season against three setbacks.

Gromek, who made his second start of the season, limited the Mackmen to four hits, one a home run by Buddy Rosar, while his mates pounded Phil Marchildon for six bingles, including Hank Edwards' third home run of the year.

LEMON STUNNED

Lemon, after being slightly stunned when hit on the head by a thrown ball in the nightcap, left the game with a one-run lead in the sixth inning, but Paige, who was given credit for the victory, saved the game by limiting the A's to three hits in the remaining three and one-third innings.

The Mackmen jumped to a 2-0 lead in the third frame of the nightcap on some weird infield play. Dick Fowler, pitching for the A's, rolled a single between Lou Boudreau and Ken Keltner into left field. Joost then fouled to Eddie Robinson, Barney McCoskey walked and Ray Coleman beat out a high bounder to Boudreau, filling the bases.

Ferris Fain then hit a high bounder to Joe Gordon and there was no chance to force Fowler at the plate. Hank Majeski walked and all hands were safe when Gordon fumbled Elmer Valo's grounder, permitting the second run to cross the plate.

INDIAN SCORING

The Indians scored in the fourth on a single by Dale Mitchell, a double by Larry Doby and another single by Boudreau. They added two more in the fifth on Jim Hegan's tremendous home run into the left field stands, Lemon's single and Mitchell's double.

Philadelphia scored once more in the sixth on a single by Majeski, a walk to Suder and another single by Fowler.

The Indians enjoyed a 5-3 lead in the seventh but the A's tied the count on Fain's double and Majeski's home run. However, after Keltner and Doby hit four baggers in the eighth and ninth, respectively, Paige set the Macks down with three fly balls in the ninth.

The Tribe tallied 12 hits off Fowler, but garnered only half that number off Marchildon in the first contest. They scored once in the second on a single by Boudreau and a double by Gordon, one more in the third on Edwards' homer, and four times in the fifth on three hits and two walks.

NEW YORK—(TP)—An article in the New York Daily Mirror today reported that boxing Promoter Mike Jacobs was trying to "lay the groundwork" for a possible bout between Joe Louis and Gus Lesnevich at the Yankee stadium on Sept. 22.

AVC Softball Team Battles VFW Tonight

American Veterans Committee is in a good position to throw a monkey wrench into the championship plans of the Veterans of Foreign Wars softballers today.

The two teams collide in the Class A club league feature attraction at 6 p m on the Johns park diamond. A victory for the AVC combine would put Moose lodge into the league driver's seat and leave AVC only a half-game behind VFW. Roose defeated Sons of Herman, 17 to 11, in a league battle Wednesday.

VFW has won six of seven games while Moose is second with seven wins and two defeats. AVC has copped five of eight, including a 6-to-4 first round victory over VFW.

In the other club game today, American Legion Post 16 plays the Amvets at North Lake park. The Legion team won a previous game, 12 to 11.

One postponed Industrial league clash is scheduled at Prospect park. Second-place Tappan Stove battles Mansfield Plumbing.

Ghezzi Leads In Dapper Dan

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—A blazing six-under-par 66 sent Vic Ghezzi of Englewood, N. J., into the lead today among a field of 136 golfers in the $16,500 Dapper Dan tourney in Pittsburgh.

Ghezzi, former National PGA king, set a new Alcoma golf course record with his first round score. The previous record was 68.

Three strokes behind Ghezzi, bunched at 69, were Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., Ellsworth Vines, former tennis great, playing out of Iowa City, Iowa; Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., and George Fazio of Conshohocken, Pa.

Mansfield Grays Seek Win No. 12

The Mansfield Grays will go after their twelfth victory against nine defeats when they oppose the Mansfield Hawks at 5:30 p. m. today at Blue Goose field.

Ex-minor leaguer Don Hardy is expected to take his regular turn on the mound for Manager Lefty Deeds' crew. The rest of the lineup will be the same as in the past several games.

One-Armed Driver

CLEVELAND — Beaten last Sunday by Duane Carter of Santa Monica, Calif., one-armed Wes Saegesser, the San Antonio sensation, will return to Bedford's Sportsman park speedway again Sunday night seeking to embark on a new local winning streak in the weekly floodlighted AAA sanctioned midget auto racing program.

Six Legion Juniors Batting Over .300

Six members of the Mansfield American Legion junior baseball team are hitting over .300 as the club goes into the third round of the district five tournament tomorrow at Bellevue.

Boasting an undefeated record this year, Dewey Durant's club is scheduled to meet Galion tomorrow at 11:30 a. m. Mansfield took two decisions from the Galion crew in the southern sectional tourney two weeks ago.

Lorain meets Willard in the tourney opener tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. The winner of this game meets in the loser of the Galion-Mansfield game at 4 p. m. on the Bellevue diamond. Finals of the meet are scheduled Sunday.

BOSH LEADS HITTERS

Injured Jack Bosh is the leading Mansfield batter. In six games, Bosh collected five hits in 11 trips for a fine .454 mark. Also hitting over .400 is shortstop-pitcher Sparkie Watts with .432.

The other leading clubbers are: Mike Gruber, .353; Buck McKeever, .344; Ken McCally, .327 and Gene Riblet, .317. Dutch Bader just missed with a .297 average.

McKeever, the first sacker, has scored the most runs—22 and his 21 hits leads that department.

★

Either Lou Gregorio or Bader will draw the mound assignment against Galion. Bader defeated Galion, 5 to 2, in the sectional and then helped Gregorio achieve a 5-to-0 victory over the same club.

Seven Enter Stakes

MARION — Seven high class three-year-old pacers are slated to parade to the post Friday night in the $1000 Mt. Gilead stake for colts of that age and gait. This tops the card at Marion Raceway.

G-R Outfit Drops First League Tilt

WILLARD — Mansfield Gorman-Rupp's hopes for a clean sweep in league play were blasted here last night by a slim 19-year-old pitcher who just refused to let them get on base. The score was 3-0.

Jim Smith, the brilliant hurler who earlier in the year had struck out 30 Gorman-Rupp batters in a 16-inning 1-1 tie, stopped the league-leaders with one infield hit, a blow by Kenny Windsor which he knocked down himself but could not play in time. He walked but one man and his mates did not commit an error behind him. Twelve batters went down on strikes.

WILDNESS HURTS

Wildness bothered the usually reliable Stretch Regula as he hit three Willard batters and gave up four bases on balls. Willard took the lead with a single run in the third inning and added a pair in the sixth on a Texas league hit with two men on.

Gorman-Rupp will be host to the Ryder Manufacturing team, said to be one of the best in the Cleveland area, at 8:30 p. m. tonight.

Old Satch Paige Helping Tribe

By RALPH RODEN
(AP Sports Writer)

It's Bill Veeck's turn to laugh now. Old Satchel Paige has contributed an important win to the Cleveland Indians' pennant drive.

When Veeck, Tribe president, signed the ageless Negro pitcher to his first major league contract on July 7, some observers said it was just another of Veeck's stunts to keep the turnstiles humming in the Forest City.

Paige shuffled out of the bullpen in Philadelphia's Shibe park last night in the second game of a twilight - night doubleheader against the second place Athletics and gained credit for an 8-5 Cleveland victory.

The triumph enabled the Indians, who won the first game, 6-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Steve Gromek, to increase their first place margin over the Athletics to two-and-one half games.

The twin setbacks cut the A's margin over the third place New York Yankees to one percentage point as the world champions beat the St. Louis Browns, 4-2, in a night tilt at New York.

The up and coming Boston Red Sox took a day-night double-header from the Detroit Tigers, 13-3 and 3-1, at Boston. Jack Kramer coasted to his eighth straight victory in the day affair.

At Washington, Rae Scarborough hurled the Senators to 4-1 seven hit conquest over the last place Chicago White Sox.

The Boston Braves pulled six games ahead of the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League's pennant race, beating and tying the Chicago Cubs while the Pirates split with the New York Giants.

Johnny Sain posted his 12th victory 2 to 1 in the first game. Allowing seven safeties.

The second game was called at the end of 13 innings because of darkness with the score tied 1-1.

The Pirates clipped the Giants, 4-3, in the first game. Ralph Kiner blasted his 24th round tripper for the Pirates in the eighth inning to tie Cincinnati's Hank Sauer for the major's home run leadership. Ray Poat hurled the Giants to a 10-3 triumph in the second game, scattering eight hits to gain his ninth victory.

The Brooklyn Dodgers last night moved into a fourth place tie with the Giants, beating the Reds, 5-3.

In another night tilt at St. Louis, Dutch Leonard hurled the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over Harry Brecheen and the Cardinals.

Hager In Ohio 'Am' Quarter-Finals

Mansfield Star Wins 2 Matches

DAYTON—For the second time in three years, Al Hager, Mansfield's young golf star, reached the quarter-finals of the 62nd Ohio Amateur golf tournament yesterday.

Hager eliminated Jim Caspio of Cleveland, 6 and 5 and Lieut. Jack Mann, Toledo, 3 and 2 in yesterday's matches. He was scheduled against Tony Ruddy, another Toledo ace, this morning.

Although his putter was not working, Hager was two under par against Caspio and two over in the match with Mann. Al three putted four greens in the afternoon. Mann had reached the semi-finals of the Ohio Public Links tourney in Toledo last month.

With five-time and defending champion Bob Servis on the sidelines, eight classy survivors of 161 starters settled down today for the stretch drive.

Two 18-hole rounds were on the day's slate, with the ultimate victors scheduled to clash tomorrow over Miami Valley's rolling course in the 36-hole finals.

M'CARTHY FAVORED

Maurice J. McCarthy jr., 41-year-old Cincinnati executive of a copper concern ruled as the No. 1 favorite over a field full of dark horses.

McCarthy, state amateur king in 1934, 1937 and 1938, and former holder of the national intercollegiate and New York metropolitan titles eliminated Dayton's Servis yesterday in the third thrill-filled match between that pair of stalwarts.

Back in 1934 McCarthy pinned a 9 and 8 setback on Servis in the 36-hole championship round. Two years later Servis beat McCarthy in 40 holes. Yesterday McCarthy was one up coming to the 18th green.

Servis canned a long birdie putt to draw even, only to succumb on the second extra hole as McCarthy slipped under par. Each was even par for the 18 holes. McCarthy was one under for 19.

Today's quarter-finals schedule: McCarthy vs. 25-year-old John Zoller of Columbus, former state high school champion from Hamilton, three-year varsity player for Ohio State, and soldier in the African and European campaigns;

VETERAN BATTLE

Tony Ruddy, 33-year-old Toledo umbrella firm sales manager, runner-up for the 1946 title, and former army communications officer, against Hager, a 24-year-old ex-marine corporal who serviced throughout the Pacific theater;

Allan Whaling, 27-year-old Cincinnati bank clerk and law student, who spent six months in a London hospital after being wounded in Europe as an infantry captain, vs. Andy Augaitis 34-year-old public links player from Dayton and a soldier in the African-European campaigns; Paul Schurtz, 27-year-old army veteran and son of the greens keeper at the Scioto Country club in Columbus, vs. Harold Paddock jr., of Cleveland, former air force lieutenant in the Pacific and semi-finalist in the recent western amateur championship race.

OLYMPIC FLAG RAISED—The Olympic flag is hoisted on the liner America by Quartermaster Richardson C. Bang before the sailing from New York with 260 athletes and 44 coaches and managers of the United States Olympic team. Captain John W. Anderson of the America (center) and Avery Brundage (right), president of the U. S. Olympic committee, assist in the proceedings.

Baptists Annex 6th Win; Congregational 9 Romps

Park Avenue Baptist won its sixth Church league game yesterday, edging St. Luke's, 6-5, on two late inning rallies.

The league-leaders trailed, 5-4, midway through the sixth frame but pushed across one run in the bottom half of the sixth and another in the seventh to keep their undefeated record.

First Congregational walloped First Lutheran, 14-1, for its sixth win in seven starts while in other games, First Presbyterian trimmed St. Matthew's, 8-5, Four Square Gospel beat B'nai B'rith, 10-6, and St. Paul's knocked out United Brethren by an identical score.

R. Milligan of Four Square Gospel was the individual star of the day as he pitched his team to victory and clouted two home runs and a double in three times at bat.

Fletcher, St. Paul's, showed as much punch as Milligan as he banged two homers and a triple in four trips.

2 Horses Hurt, Cat's the Cause

MARION—(AP)—A cat caused a harness race pileup here last night, hospitalizing two drivers.

Marion Slane of Van Wert was the most seriously hurt. He suffered head injuries. Banty Stevens of Ohio City was released this morning, hospital attaches reported.

The cat jumped in front of a pacer driven by Clair Baker, Richwood. The horse shied, causing the pileup. Baker was not hurt.

Leo Durocher Gets Bit of Reprieve

(Editor's Note: This yarn is now old stuff since Leo Durocher today at noon became manager of the New York Giants. Mel Ott resigned the Giants and Burt Shotton was named manager of the Dodgers. However, Oscar Fraley's story tells why the Dodgers' plight should be attributed to Branch Rickey, not Durocher.)

* * *

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—A reprieve supposedly had been granted today to Leo Durocher, fall guy manager of the disappointing Brooklyn Dodgers, but Branch Rickey's policy of unloading at a profit still had the Lip's job in jeopardy.

To get a true picture of the spot Durocher is in, you have to go back to his suspension of last season. Burt Shotton, painted by some as "beloved" but personally found to be testy and grumpy and cooperative only with a favored few, took over and won the pennant. So when Durocher came back this season he was expected to do no worse. And the brickbats started to fly when his team went stumbling off the mark and plummeted into the cellar. It was no secret that Rickey was considering Durocher's dismissal and Shotton was a frequent visitor to the Dodger front office.

Actually the fault was with Rickey and not with Durocher.

As in the past, the deacon had looted the team of much of its strength. It's an old, old Rickey story.

PEDDLE PROS

Dixie Walker and Eddie Stanky, two of the pros, were peddled because they wanted more money. On the block also went Vic Lombardi and Hal Gregg, two capable pitchers, along with Stan Rojek, now regular shortstop of the Pirates, and Gene Mauch, regular second baseman for the Cubs since his sale.

The upshot was that when the Dodger pitching staff failed to deliver, Lombardi and Gregg were missed badly. With Jackie Robinson overweight and injured and Pete Reiser out of action, the club lacked the balance and power which would have been supplied by Walker and Stanky.

It isn't the first time that Rickey banked a bundle and the manager took the rap. And the great white father isn't one to fear changing horses in mid-stream.

MANAGERS SUFFER

During his years with the Cardinals his favorite pastime was doing a rush job on a reputation and then swapping the recipient of the raves for a pile of pocket lettuce. The managers suffered.

In 1929 it was Bill McKechnie who gave way to Billy Southworth. Don't let anybody tell you that Deacon Bill can't get as much out of a club as anybody in baseball.

Four years later Rickey shifted the blame for his fire sales by subbing Gabby Street for Frankie Frisch. Then, in 1938, after peddling away Dizzy Dean and others, Rickey replaced Frisch with Mike Gonzales.

And, in 1940, the smoke screen which covered the weakening sales and laid the blame on the mangled managers resulted in three Cardinal pilots—Ray Blades, Gonzales as the second goat and finally, Southworth.

BLAMES LIPPY

Following his suspension, Durocher has been more quiet and restrained than was the wont of the old Lip. But the old Rickey dodge of blaming the manager resulted in this message to Leo when he failed to rant at a close decision:

"We haven't quit on the Dodgers. Have you? If you have, why not resign now?"

Durocher, no matter what his critics say about him, is not a quitter. He finally got a working crew together and of late the team has been playing better than .800 baseball.

It saved his job, for the time being. But if the club slumps again—because of Rickey selling it short—you can expect the substitution of Shotton. The trap is all set to be sprung.

Nat Rogers Plans Five Big Fights

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK—(INS)—Nat Rogers is about to be reinstated as matchmaker for Mike Jacobs and Madison Square Garden.

You may remember that the boxing commission suspended Rogers last year for dealing with characters whose hearts were not pure as gold.

Now the boxing commission has told Rogers he may apply for reinstatement which is tantamount to letting him work again. Only now the commission has warned him to deal only with licensed characters.

This is rather amusing when you think of some of the characters the commission itself licensed and still licenses.

EVERYTHING SERENE

Anyhow, Rogers is back on a job he has held since 1928 and all is serene along cauliflower row.

Here are some of the matches he hopes to make:

1. A Willie Pep—Ike Williams fight for the lightweight crown, contingent, of course, on Williams having the lightweight title when and if the match is closed. Rogers would have to induce Pep to give up his featherweight throne for his one. Nat estimates this one would draw $150,000.

2. A Gus Lesnevich-Ezzard Charles bout for the lightweight title. Estimated gate, $500,000.

3. A Ray Robinson-Ike Williams bout for the welterweight title. Estimated gate, $250,000.

4. A Gid Gavilan-Ray Robinson bout for the welter title with gate estimated at $125,000.

5. (And this one will slay you) a Jersey Joe Walcott-Gus Lesnevich bout outdoors. Rogers estimates this gate at $500,000, which only goes to show you what an optimist he is.

Charm, dignity and character are three things that will stand out in your mind as you inspect this brand new "Early American" style bungalow. You will also have the feeling there is plenty of room, yet the clever designing for "step-saver living" is the keynote to modern living. Large living room, sun bathed by two picture windows, 2 large bedrooms, automatic gas heating, attached breezeway and garage, on bus line, conveniently located for schools Proper, yet simple landscaping will make this home rich in tradition. TOMORROW IS RACE DAY!!

The Soap Box Derby

Saturday, July 17th
First Race 1:00 P.M.

BELOW ARE SCENES OF LAST YEAR'S RACE

Come Out to the South Main Street Hill at the City Limits and See the Fun!

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

'New Party' Prepares for Convention In Philadelphia

Three-Day Session Will Open Friday

Wallace Plans Admission Fee

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — A welcome lull settled over convention-embattled Philadelphia today —but it was only temporary.

Tomorrow the advance guard for the third party national convention troops into town to prepare for the "New Party" sessions opening next Friday in Convention hall.

The third party arrangements committee is moving right into the Bellevue-Stratford hotel quarters vacated by the Democrats who had taken them over from the Republicans.

There'll be one marked difference in the Wallace convention as compared with the Democratic and GOP conclaves.

All you needed to get into Convention hall for the major party candidates' acceptance speeches was an admission ticket —free, if you could get your hands on one.

But the Wallace acceptance speech will be delivered with a "cover charge" at Shibe park next Saturday night. It will cost Wallace followers from 60 cents to $2.60 for seats to hear the former vice president pledge battle with the Democrats and Republicans in November.

Regular sessions of the third party convention will be held in the same auditorium in which the Republicans nominated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and the Democrats chose President Truman.

The Wallace platform committee, headed by former New Dealer Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, will begin its work on Wednesday.

The convention will vote on the platform at its final session on Sunday, July 25.

A Negro publisher, Charles P. Howard, 53, of Des Moines, has been proposed as the keynote speaker.

Woman Shot, Man Detained

30 feet from the porch.

One of the bullets struck Mrs. Carpenter.

Deputies said the man with the gun, apparently, had been lying in wait outside the house. The shooting occurred shortly after 10 p. m.

A 26-year-old Louis street man, meanwhile, was held as a material witness to the shooting. Deputies said the man had been with the gun-toter before and after the shooting.

The same man is also held for investigation in connection with the stabbing of Dude Petty, 47, of 21 Louis street, a week ago. Petty was cut in the hand and neck, and has since been released from General hospital.

The sheriff and Prosecutor Theodore Lutz were to interview Mrs. Carpenter later today. No charges have been filed in either case.

Station Bids Up to Council

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison said today action on the bids to construct a new No. 4 fire station is being postponed until council's finance committee meets and decides whether or not to appropriate an extra $20,000 to meet the lowest bid.

There is $50,000 in the general fund and about $4,000 in fire levy money for the construction of the fire station. The combination of lowest bids opened Tuesday totaled $74,648.

Council has the option of appropriating the additional money needed to build the two-engine fire station, or of refusing to do so and thus force the board of control to reject the bids.

Strength of Steel, Railway Issues Stems Stock Decline

NEW YORK—(AP)—Demand for a hand-picked group of steel and railway issues stemmed downward tendencies in the stock market today.

U. S. Steel, with a gain of around a point, was one of the pivots on which the market tried to turn upward. Nickel Plate, rising two points, was a key point in the rail division.

Actress Held For Murder

HAVANA —(UNS)— Laura de Paula Massana, a blonde Cuban actress, will be arraigned in court in Havana today charged with the fatal shooting of the young Boston socialite with whom she reportedly was living as man and wife.

Police say that she confessed shooting Thompson Newbury, wealthy 22-year-old Harvard graduate, last Tuesday after he had told her, "shoot me, kill me."

But, according to the police, she added that "I thought the pistol was unloaded."

Laura is being held in Havana women's prison.

Also confined in the prison is Patricia (Satira) Schmidt, Toledo, O., nightclub dancer, who has appealed from a 15-year sentence in connection with the fatal shooting in April, 1947, of John Lester Mee, Chicago yachtsman-socialite.

Young Newbury arrived in Havana July 8 and moved into the ocean hotel, where he was shot, last Saturday. Police say he registered Laura there as his wife.

Senate Seat Seeker Visits

Carl J. Longwell, Democratic candidate for state senator in the 27th-29th district, visited Mansfield and Ashland yesterday to confer with party leaders.

Longwell, a 44-year-old Lorain steelworker, is chairman of the health and welfare committee of the Lorain county CIO council. A resident of Lorain county since 1915, he has been employed for 13 years in the shipping department of the Lorain National Tube company.

During his visit here he talked with Marshall Moore, Democratic state central committeeman, and William Calhoun, of the Young Men's Democratic club.

tirely within the realm of normal conduct of a private business enterprise, and, particularly one in the newspaper publishing industry."

The minority report said it saw "no reason to conclude that all of the business practices engaged in by these newspaper company applicants would be carried over into the operation of the broadcast stations."

Both companies,' this report said, proposed "entirely meritorious program services." Both have conducted campaigns in their cities' interest, promoted "worthwhile" charity drives and taken a "very active part" in city affairs, the report continued. It added that the "entire record" of the case showed no "specific violations" of law or regulations by the papers.

(In their legal steps to prove the FCC's findings unjustified and unwarranted, the newspapers have contended that both their news handling and business policies have been strictly in accordance with constitutional guarantees of free press and their right to conduct a competitive business in a legal and reasonable manner.

(The newspapers contend that the FCC majority's finding is not in accordance with facts, is not supported by evidence brought out at radio hearings and that the decision is illegal, arbitrary and capricious.)

RADIO PROGRAM ISSUE

The papers are owned by S. A. Horvitz and Isadore Horvitz, brothers, of Cleveland. Isadore is president and S. A. is publisher.

"The owners of the Mansfield Journal," the majority report stated, "have sought to suppress competition in the dissemination of news and information and to achieve an advertising monopoly . . . through the use of exclusive advertising contracts."

The majority decision made these claims:

1. The Mansfield Journal refused to carry the program log of station WMAN, it refused advertising from the station and kept news about the station from area residents.

2. The paper "harassed" some merchants to prevent their advertising over WMAN and attempted to "coerce" other advertisers into exclusive advertising contracts.

If the two papers under their present ownership were to acquire "control of broadcast facilities in addition to the only newspapers in the respective communities," the majority report said, "competition in the dissemination of news and information would be suppressed and . . . pressure would be exerted on advertisers, who require the use of the daily newspaper in the city for their businesses, to enter into exclusive advertising contracts."

"In our view," the decision went one, "this would be inconsistent with the public interest."

The applications denied involve two standard and one FM licenses.

Laurence W. Hardy, trading as the Fostoria, O., Broadcasting company, was found qualified to establish a new station on the same frequency sought by the Mansfield paper. Approval of the application was held up, however, pending a general action on rules for station of that frequency.

Shelby 'Wars' on Insects; Spray City Again Tonight

SHELBY — "Operation Flyswatter" a pest control program designed to rid Shelby of bothersome insects, was launched yesterday with a mass spraying around the lake at Seltzer park.

Inaugurated by the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, a special Jaycee committee, joined by townspeople, sprayed the park's area with a liquid solution of DDT.

Tonight, another Jaycee group will declare "war" on insects in the downtown business district. Groups will spray doorways, screens and lamp posts.

Dr. A. Sneeringer, chairman of the Jaycee committee, said the campaign would continue until "enemy insects" fall back.

An army of housewives, men and children re-inforced Jaycee groups in the residential areas last night. "Battle strategy" today is for another attack in full strength.

Dr. Sneeringer advised that the DDT solution used by the Jaycee "combat troops" are odorless and harmless to human beings. However, he advocated washing windows after the spray has taken effect

50 Girls Enjoy YW Picnic Closing First Camp Week

Despite threatening rain clouds, more than 50 girls gathered in the back yard of the YWCA for a noon picnic today, concluding the first week of the 10-day YWCA daytime camp which will continue through July 23.

Most of the girls wore shorts or other sports clothes and their hair was still wet from their recent swimming lesson at the YMCA pool.

The girls brought their own lunches. The "Y" furnished chocolate milk.

In a few minutes they were trading sandwiches and cookies and roasting wieners over the outdoor grill.

Tables and chairs had been placed under the shady trees, but most of the campers sat or lay on the lawn.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary of the Mansfield Community Chest, had taken colored movies of the girls as they participated in crafts and other camp activities. The pictures are being taken of all the agencies of the Community Chest.

Next Friday, the last day of camp, there will be no regular morning session. Instead parents and friends of the campers will inspect exhibits and watch dramatic demonstrations at the YWCA in the afternoon.

Mrs. Orlo Smith, chairman of the YWCA summer program, is in charge of the daytime camp. She is assisted by Miss Ann Knapp.

Ex-Foreman At OSR Dies

William A. Brink, 78, a retired construction foreman at the Ohio State Reformatory, died in a hospital in St. Petersburg, Fla., Thursday.

He started working at the reformatory in 1905 and worked there until retirement on a State pension in 1939, completing almost 34 years state service.

He and his wife observed their 58th wedding anniversary last April. They left Mansfield four years ago to take residence in Florida.

Dancers to Hear Their Fortunes

Mansfield high school students attending the YMCA Junior Rifle club recreation dance will have their fortunes told and palms read tonight by an "expert."

"Madame Zome, who sees all, knows all and tell all" will gaze into her crystal ball and predict future events for the boys and girls.

The Rifle club dance is being held in cooperation with the Hy-fun council. Proceeds will go to purchase new rifle equipment and assist in the expense of rifle club entry fees in state contests.

Camp Adds Buildings

Improvements Made At Hidden Hollow

Pounding hammers signaled today the progress of an extensive building project at Hidden Hollow camp.

The new cabins built largely through the efforts of Russell Gimbel, director of the camp, was opened two days ago for girls from the camp. It was given by the Zeta Rho chapter of the Delta Theta Tau sororitw.

Work started this week on the new boys' cabin but just who will sponsor the building of this new unit is still to be decided, Gimbel said. However, when he ordered lumber for the new girls' cabin, he ordered enough for an extra one for the boys, badly needed for this summer's top registration.

"The craft hall is a beauty," Mrs. Gimbel remarked. "It's almost completed; they're putting the shingles on now."

This was a gift of the B'nai Brith, at a cost of about $1,000. Ivan Bauer, contractor, donated his labor for this building.

The final unit in the building program is the chapel, which will be started next week by members of the 40 et 8 club who expect to do most of the work and who are paying for the building materials.

The chapel will be built on a knoll at the foot of the hill where the lodge is located. It will face the setting sun and be opened on three sides, although screened to protect the young worshippers from mosquitoes.

Dems Again Pick M'Grath As Chairman

Barkley Joins In Harmony Talks

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)— Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Rhode Island, predicting a Truman-Barkley victory in November, was re-elected chairman of the Democratic National committee, late yesterday.

McGrath told the National committee at its post-convention meeting that he had no doubt of President Truman's nomination, "nor do I have any doubts of his election in November."

The Rhode Island senator said he was confident the Democratic party, "which is the only party with the will and the courage to go forward," will continue to be intrusted with the administration of the government."

BARKLEY HAPPY

Earlier, Sen. Alben W. Barkley, Democratic vice presidential nominee, told the committee that he and President Truman "have been teammates for 10 years" and will continue to be during and after the coming campaign.

Barkley apparently sought to dissipate any doubt that he was reluctant to be a vice presidential candidate with Mr. Truman or that the president was reluctant to have him as a running mate.

"I am very happy to team up with the president of the United States," Barkley told the committee in an informal and brief address.

He said they had been teammates for 10 years while Mr. Truman was in the Senate where Barkley served many years as majority leader, and they have continued to be since Mr. Truman became president.

"If elected, we will still be a team in there pitching—the catcher understanding the signals of the pitcher so he will know whether to expect a slow drop or a chin cutter," Barkley said.

Joseph Blythe, national treasurer, told the committee, "the party is solvent and expects to stay solvent."

McGrath and all other officers of the Democratic National committee were re-elected by acclamation.

Three Win Air Ratings

A. C. Tschantz, Civil Aeronautics administrator examiner, at the Municipal airport, announced today new ratings for three pilots who recently took CAA tests. The fliers and their new ratings are: Wilbur Shafer, single engine sea rating; James Gorman III, single engine land rating; Tom E. Barlow of Jackson, Ohio, private pilot Ercoupe rating.

★

RECENT VISITORS—W. Harold Johnson, production manager of the Wil-Burt Stoker company of Orrville, was driving his family through to western Ohio on their vacation and decided to stop off at Mansfield to take Mrs. Johnson and four daughters, ages one to nine, for a ride. The little girls seemed to enjoy the flight immensely and remarked they had never seen so many little cars and houses.

★

321st BOMB GROUP — Major Robert M. Hall flew Sgt. Johnson to his home in Painesville in his Ercoupe.

As of July 1 the 11th Air Force has been inactivated and the area that was originally a part of the 11th is now under the jurisdiction of the First Air Force, General Webster, commander, and headquarters in Fort Slocum, New York.

Majors Hall, James R. McConnel and Howard E. Walker attended a meeting for all unit commanders and instructors at the Carter hotel on July 14, with General Webster presiding.

Lean Days Are Gone

Only Housing, Car Shortages Remain

By EILEEN DEWHURST

The days when almost everything was classed a scarce item are only a dim memory now. Today's well-stocked shelves bear little resemblance to the almost empty ones which were a familiar sight during the war.

Most Mansfielders can remember when they gloated over one pack of any kind of cigarets. And gloated only if they were lucky enough to reach the counter before the cigarets were all gone after standing in a block-long line. Now customers can purchase their favorite brand by the carton at any drug or grocery store. One Mansfield drug store now stocks no less than 38 different brands of cigarets.

Candy bars are back in abundance, too. Candy counters display all the old familiar ones as well as a variety of new names.

As for chewing gum, another wartime casualty, Mansfield stores now stock from 10 to 20 different flavors.

The days when women rushed home from the neighborhood grocery to phone to friends that the grocer had a scarce item for sale are part of the past. At one time during the soap shortage Americans feared that their reputation as the cleanest people in the world was about to be threatened. Now soap manufacturers are sending out "come-on" coupons to induce housewives to try their product.

During the war most of the country's cotton supply went to the armed forces. This week Mansfield stores are advertising special prices on cotton goods.

Probably the shortage which caused the most bitter complaints by women and the most joy upon its return was that of nylon. Nylon hose are available in all shades and sizes now, and lingerie, blouses and dresses are also being made from the once precious fabric.

But, if most shortages disappeared after the war, at least two important ones still remain.

Customers must still wait months for the delivery of most makes of new cars. And during their wait the purchase price is apt to rise several times.

As for housing, it is a shortage that is beginning to look permanent. The lists of "wanted to rent" grow longer daily in every newspaper. Finding an empty house or apartment is rated on a par with that of discovering a gold mine.

And while customers no longer stand in line to buy the necessities and luxuries of life, they are paying a high price to live in the style to which they are accustomed.

Helium is the only element that does not solidify when subjected to near-zero temperatures.

U. S. Public Health Service Began 150 Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Many of us owe our lives and good health to a law signed 150 years ago today—in 1798—by President John Adams.

The law established the Marine Hospital service, forerunner of the present U. S. Public Health service, as it has been known since 1912.

From a modest beginning on the Boston waterfront, where sick and injured seamen could be rowed from their sailing ships to a makeshift hospital on Castle island, the service has grown to this:

It maintains the world's largest research center at the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md., with branches throughout the country.

It operates 25 hospitals, 115 outpatient clinics, two hospitals for drug addicts, a leprosarium and 16 major quarantine stations.

Its personnel number 17,000. It has been said that not one lives a "safe, routine life."

Almost 20 of its scientists are listed as "killed in action"—martyrs to research on such diseases as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, scrub typhus, meningitis, yellow fever, tuberculosis and parrot fever.

Public health service officers, engineers and technicians travel far and wide to build defenses for the public health.

You may find them wearing dungarees, spreading DDT in malarial swamps, or taking pot shots at rodents which might harbor the dread "black death."

You may find them rat-proofing ships or building sanitary toilets in remote rural districts. You may find them at airports, checking on the health of people coming from the tropics, or you may hear of them taking vaccines to the Eskimos in Alaska.

Many of their jobs are to prevent sickness, and so often go unnoticed.

Payroll Savings in the form of United States Savings Bonds is a part of your take home pay, the part that grows in value.

Unions to Plan Labor Day Parade

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1948

The "stop-Truman" movement has now been turned over to the Republicans, with the date set ahead to November 2.

Next comes the Henry Wallace convention in Philadelphia, after which that city can resume its "brotherly love" attributes.

Out in Mattoon, Ill., a junior police unit is said to be "taking care of everything and dealing juvenile delinquency quite a blow"—which seems to have an idea concealed about it somewhere.

Vote Would Favor Pay Increases

PROPOSAL to put the matter of pay increases for city employes up to a vote at the November election provides an interesting subject for discussion, although the practicability of such procedure may be open to question.

In all probability, in the event of a vote on the subject, a substantial majority would express approval of pay increases for not only members of police and fire departments but for all other city employes as well, as there is a quite general feeling that the income of public employes should be kept in line with rising living costs.

If, at the same time, however, proposal of a tax increase sufficient to meet the added cost were to be submitted to voters the outcome would not be so assured.

It is a responsibility of members of city council, as elected representatives of the people of Mansfield, to keep expenditures within income and mere expression of willingness to raise wages and salaries is not enough—there must also be provision of sufficient funds to meet the added costs . . . and this additional money must come from some form of taxation, assessments or licenses.

Without putting the question to a vote, as is being proposed, it would appear that city councilmen can take for granted that a majority of Mansfielders favor reasonable increases in pay of all appointive city employes and that the chief concern of municipal legislators should be to find sources of approximately $100,000 in additional revenues with which to meet the cost.

Health Commissioner's Plight

SURELY, someplace in Mansfield or suburban area, there is a vacant (or soon to be vacant) house or apartment suited to the family needs of Dr. Harvey W. Wain, new city-county health commissioner.

The idea of almost immediately losing the services of a man who has come to Mansfield with high recommendations of ability as health commissioner is distressing, and the situation deserves the co-operative effort asked by James F. Carrigan, chairman of the Mansfield board of health.

Difficulty was encountered in finding a capable man for the local health commissioner post—than which there is no more important public position in Mansfield—and it is reasonable for Dr. Wain and his family to expect to find comfortable living quarters here at no higher rental than $75 a month.

Death Takes Great Military Leader

WHILE Americans like best to be known as a peace-loving people, they have always taken great pride in their military forces and are inclined to highly honor outstanding figures in the wars in which this nation has been involved.

This applies in large measure to Gen. John J. Pershing, who has just passed from life at the age of 87, after 23 years of retirement following his distinguished services as commander of the American forces during World War I.

As attention centered this year on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in pre-convention discussion of presidential possibilities, so in 1920 it was Gen. Pershing whose name was frequently mentioned in similar vein—but he put this all aside and devoted his attention, while then serving as Army chief of staff, to revising American military policy in the National Defense Act of that year.

Through all of the long lifetime devoted to the service of his country in a military capacity, it was Gen. Pershing's ardent hope that foundations of permanent peace would eventually be laid, although circumstances associated with the ending of World War I aroused doubt in his mind as to the advisability of an armistice under terms then agreed upon. The future course of Germany confirmed the wisdom of his views.

Production Reserve Being Created

THE GOVERNMENT has begun the process of creating a reserve of productive capacity, to be used in the event of war. Into this reserve will go industrial plants and machine tools built for World War II at a cost to the government of more than half a billion dollars. Originally headed for the surplus property list, they are to be placed instead on a stand-by basis, preserved for possible future use.

The procedure, if mechanically practical, seems quite reasonable. It should make as much sense to keep machines in reserve for war production as to keep men in the military reserves.

Many are ordnance works and related plants, which would be of limited usefulness to the civilian economy. Others might have made a worthwhile contribution to the commerce of peace. In any case the total represents more than half a billion dollars' worth of buildings and machinery, serving no purpose but as potential capacity for war.

Actually this investment is a relatively small item in the cost of national preparedness, necessary because present absence of war is not real peace but only armed truce. Some day it may be discovered that the cost of truce is greater than the cost of peace.

Latest checkup reveals that none of the recent June weddings has reached the divorce court as yet—but the lawyer who specializes on that class of trade continues quite optimistic.

One punster submits: "If you get a little sulky over the high price of automobiles, all you need is a horse."

What Some Other People Are Saying

Desire For Freedom Can't Be Crushed

THE totalitarian communist regime in Moscow finally is encountering in an impressive way the age-old truth that you can suppress freedom by force but you can't suppress the desire for freedom.

The desire for liberty which currently is manifesting itself among the Russian satellite states of eastern Europe is merely history repeating itself in a new setting, just as it has done time and again through the centuries.

There is no country in which the love of freedom runs more strongly than in Czechoslovakia. And there could be no more striking demonstation of this than was given quietly but daringly during the parade of 80,000 people through the ancient city of Prague in connection with the Sokol congress.

The marchers cheered for former President Benes, who was their leader before bolshevism took over, but they had no salute for his communist successor, Klement Gottwald. Many tiny American flags appeared among the paraders, and drew applause.

The Sokol long has stood as a symbol of independence in eastern Europe. It is a cultural and physical training organization with units in numerous countries. Periodically there are congress meets, such as just held in Prague, at which as many as 12,000 gymnasts appear on a field at one time and give amazing demonstrations of athletic prowess in absolute unison.

Having attended a Sokol in Prague myself, I venture to say that few could come away from one of these exhibitions without a feeling of having communed with the spirit of liberty. That is the spirit which now is showing itself not only in Czechoslovakia but in Finland, Yugoslavia and other shackled states.

* * *

Shouldn't Be Surprised.

PROBABLY this development is no surprise to the Red regime. How could it be in view of the fact that the Russians themselves revolted time and again against the serfdom imposed by a totalitarian Czarist rule?

Still, it remains a curious trait of human nature that the communists should be applying these self-same totalitarian methods to their own regime. Maybe they have figured that they could refine the system so that it would work.

And in truth, up until recently it has looked on the face of it as through the various police regimes were fairly fool-proof. They were estabilshed by strong-arm methods. Active opposition was eliminated by liquidations, by imprisonments and by condemnation to slave camps. The terrors of the secret police have taken care of the rest.

However, none of these methods could suppress the desire for freedom. You can't control a man's thoughts, even though for a time you may prevent him from expressing them.

And finally, as we are seeing demonstrated, freedom of action will reassert itself—purges or no purges. Folk who have once been free will not indefinitely submit to a police rule which denies them all the items of man's bill of rights, including freedom of worship.

One of communism's greatest weaknesses is its anti-religious tenet, which in itself is enough to turn away Christions, Jews, Mohammedans and all other believers in a God. Those believers, by the way, include the vast majority of humanity.

How will Moscow meet this disaffection? It's difficult to see how the Bolshevists can do otherwise than continue their policy of force. Certainly sweet reasoning won't turn the trick at this stage. There are rumors of Russian troop movements in eastern Europe, but Moscow has given no indication of its plans.

Battle For Party Control

By THOMAS L. STOKES

OVER the still-live and kicking fame of Harry Truman the fight started at the Philadelphia convention for control of the Democratic party—and it will go on henceforth.

The President, still the titular leader of the party though somewhat scarred, must carry it through the campaign. If he loses, he probably will not have too much influence in the continuing fight for party control. If by some outside chance he should win, he would have more to say.

In the case of such temporary bankruptcy as that in which the party would find itself in defeat, if it does not already exist to a considerable degree, it is usual that the holder of the most notes takes over.

On that theory, it seems that the southern conservative leaders, who must be distinguished always from the southern people as a whole, would assume control temporarily, as they always have in such contingencies in the past.

They hold the most votes. They control states which, under ordinary circumstances, always can be counted upon to go democratic by party label, and thus provide a nucleus for victory, even though Franklin D. Roosevelt would have won every one of his four victories without a single southern state. But those were unusual conditions in unusual times and cannot be considered the norm.

Furthermore, the South controls key minority posts in Congress because of the one-party system that gives them full benefit of the seniority system, and it is there, in Congress, between times, when the party is out of power, that not only the record but the decisions on leadership and policy are made.

President Truman got less than a draw in his battle at the convention with southern-wing leaders. While his renomination was not successfully challenged, nasty as the southerners tried to make it for him, that is about all he got out of the convention.

President Truman's defiance of the South is most commendable and very courageous and was a highlight of the convention that probably will become historic But it cannot end with that. The southern leadership that he so bravely flaunted cannot be dismissed airily and forgotten, as some are suggesting.

* * *

Dare Not Ignore South.

RATHER, for the long-range future of the party, they must be constantly kept in mind as constituting the major problem for anyone who wants to make the Democratic party a progressive party and, for that, to tap the reservoir of progressivism in the South which is more potent than many people suppose.

For this it is necessary to appeal to the people of the South over these leaders who so misrepresent so many of them so often, and some of President Truman's advisers recognize the wisdom of such a course.

It is necessary to arouse the people to raise up new and progressive leaders. But for the people to be able to do that, it is necessary that they participate in politics more widely.

This will require some sort of civil-rights program to remove the shackles of disfranchisement in poll taxes and "white" primary dodges, as well as racial discriminations.

There congress comes in if states, themselves, cannot be induced to shake off these fetters. This brings into the picture Republicans and progressive Democrats from outside the South. As President Truman himself has seen so plainly, a civil-rights program is very essential to a progressive Democratic party.

Rebuilding the Democratic party will be a slow and painful process perhaps. It will require new leadership all around, as well as recognition of the younger generation. But it should not overlook the south.

Looking Back

Twenty Years Ago Today

Monday, July 16, 1928

Dr. T. H. Meyer, health commissioner, and James Kuneman, sanitary officer, started inspection of restaurants, and it was announced that all restaurants in city would be inspected once a month.

Woman's club was reopened after having been closed for repairs and redecorating.

Merrill C. McEwen resigned as director of vocal music in city schools to take similar position in Bowling Green state normal school.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ferree, 298 Newman street.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Enos, 20 Summit avenue, returned from Canadian trip.

Woman arrested on shoplifting charge entered plea of guilty in municipal court and was fined $10 and costs.

Miss Ruth Mendenhall, teacher in Senior high school, was granted year's leave of absence to attend University of California special course.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Stony Point, New York, was captured from the British on July 16, 1779. This victory is regarded by historians as one of the most brilliant military exploits of the Revolutionary War.

Dave Boone Says:

WELL, it's all over and Philadelphia can never say it didn't ask for it. Whatever happens in the campaign and in the election, it can't be any harder on the eyes and ears.

* * *

To people who watched both conventions by television it was shocking to see how little attention the delegates paid to the speakers, top figures and important episodes. Americans never before believed that even during memorial services to an ex-president and to invocations and sacred songs so many men and women could behave as if at a clambake.

* * *

It seems to me that if political conventions must be conducted with such shabby disregard of fundamental good manners they had better be kept from the video screen.

* * *

Better order is maintained at outdoor prize fights than the chairmen of these political gatherings were able to obtain. It might be just as well if they introduced ballets, audience-participation quiz contests and ball games between the married and single men.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Clay Opposes Use of Force In Berlin

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Footnote on Philadelphia — There is nothing more agonizing than to watch a person die. At Philadelphia it was equally agonizing to watch a once-great party in its death struggles.

It was especially agonizing because the doctor in charge wouldn't call in a specialist.

It seldom happens in real life anymore, because doctors have got over professional jealousy and use common sense about calling in specialists.

But history will record that the tragic death struggles of the Democratic party at Philadelphia were largely because one very nice, optimistic little man sat serene and confident, claiming that all would come out right if things were left to him. He flatly refused to call in a surgeon.

At first the relatives protested, said they wanted a new doctor. But the little family doctor said no. His old-fashioned medicine had been good enough before, he said, and it was good enough now. So the relatives sat round the bedside, quietly calculating what inheritance they could salvage out of the deceased's estate. They were reconciled to the death.

Personally, I don't like to see people die; so I came back to Washington early where a perspiring state department is now grappling with the worst war crisis since before Pearl Harbor.

Show Down In Berlin.

IRE against Russia is so tense in Berlin that certain high-placed U. S. officials (civilians) have been urging Gen. Lucius Clay to break the Soviet blockade by force.

They want him to arm a food train in the American zone of Germany and send it speeding through the Russian zone to Berlin with U. S. troops in armored cars riding just behind the engine ready to shoot if the Russians resist.

These U. S. officials go so far as to plan countermeasures in case the Russians sabotage the rail line. They propose that a corps of U. S. Army engineers be sent along to repair any torn-up rails, also to repair the River Elbe bridge if blown up by the Russians.

Some officials, quite close to Clay, claim that Russia is not ready for war and would try to "localize" any trouble with the United States. There might be some clashes between U. S. and Red army troops around Berlin, they advise, but Russia would not let them spread to the rest of Europe. She would back down first.

General Clay, however, doesn't agree. So far he has rejected this explosive advice. He says that if an incident took place, you never can control men's passions. Trouble might spread whether Moscow wanted it or not. Privately, Clay has described such measures as "unwise and dangerous," likely to "commit us to war."

Instead General Clay favors economic sanctions, before making a move which could convert a cold war into a shooting war. For instance, Clay thinks that we have been too lenient with the Russians regarding shipping and air facilities, that we should crack down on the Russians economically. This would hurt, but not risk war.

In brief, here is one historic case where a soldier is reluctant to use force though civilians urge it. Congratulated by an old acquaintance on not being trigger-happy, General Clay remarked:

"Maybe that's why they keep a soldier in Berlin."

Note—Clay trained during the war under War Mobilizer Jimmy Byrnes, a great believer in the art of persuasion to accomplish things.

Behind Note to Russia.

HERE is the inside story behind the diplomatic protest sent by the U. S., France and England against the Russian blockade of Berlin.

Real fact is that the United States did not inspire the recent simultaneous notes. It was the pet project of British Foreign Minister Bevin.

Late at night, Bevin summoned U. S. Ambassador Lew Douglas and French Ambassador Rene Massigli. Handing them copies of a note, he said that his advisers had prepared the draft of a protest to Moscow and that the United States, Great Britain and France ought to dispatch it simultaneously.

"See what you think of it," he said.

Ambassador Douglas replied that the United States would have to wait and study it. But the French ambassador told Bevin on the spot that the note was too strong. France, he said, could not go along.

Later the French rewrote the original Bevin note. They pointed out that the note was an ultimatum based on such strong language that the Russians could give only one reply—a flat no. Instead they suggested a milder tone with at least some points on which Russia could agree.

The United States concurred with the French and the final notes were based upon the general ideas proposed by the French.

Assignment: America

Embarrassing Moment

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — For some guys, things just seem to happen that way. You know, it's raining scotch and soda and they grab the biggest container handy and then it turns out to be a sieve.

It was a news note from Philadelphia right in the middle of the week's festivities that started me to reminiscing. It said that the announcement that Douglas would not run for vice president was made at a press conference by John M. Redding, publicity director for the national Democratic committee.

Redding made a one-sentence statement, as follows:

"I am informed by friends of Mr. Douglas that he will not be a candidate for the vice presidency."

Then he went ahead and told reporters that it was his opinion that Senator Barkley currently was the best bet, which made it quite a press conference. Not that I would de-bunk the news value of national political conventions, but there had not been any of what you might call "stop press" items emanating from Redding's press conferences prior to that point.

And then I got to thinking, well it looks like Jack is caught with a sieve in his hand again.

And then nostalgia popped up out of the weeds and kicked me in the shins and I got to dreaming about those unhappy days in Potsdam, exactly three years ago now.

It was the Potsdam conference, you recall, and originally was planned by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. But the President died long before it was scheduled to begin, and England substituted Atlee for Churchill right after the first whistle and Russia wound up the only contestant with its wartime first team in all the way through.

Many preparations were made for the big shindig. Hundreds of war correspondents gathered from all over the continent, and all three delegations brought a bunch of political reporters from their home capitals.

* * *

While World Waited.

NEEDLESS to say, every public relations officer above the rank of lieutenant was bucking for the chance to boss the big show, but the nod of the big brass finally went to a bulky lieutenant-colonel by the name of — yep, that's right — John M. Redding.

While his fellow P. R. R.'s looked on enviously, Jack rolled up his sleeves and waded into the job.

I arrived in Berlin on an emergency call the day the Big Three were scheduled to hold their first official meeting. With astonishing efficiency, I was scooted from airport to press camp, fed, accredited (for that particular event), billeted, briefed and brought to the press conference room for the first report from the locked compound gates at nearby Potsdam.

Finally the big moment for which all these multitudinous preparations had been made arrived. Colonel Redding appears, with the communique from the compound in his hand.

Alert to the signal, the censors and the signal corps crews were poised and ready. Pencils of correspondents and radio broadcasters from all over the waiting world hovered over their copy paper. A hush fell over the conference room—until at last we looked at Jack.

Standing up there, his florid face was turning far redder than usual, the crimson spreading over the top of his slightly balding dome. His shirt seemed to choke him. Finally he spoke, and his normally roaring voice was but a husky whisper:

"The only communique we'll get from the parley today is this . . . " He waved a paper. "It's — It's the — " He stopped, then forced himself to go on . . . "It's the menu of what they had for lunch!"

There was a moment of absolutely unbelieving silence. Then, slowly, like the breaking of a storm, the roar went up and swelled louder and louder until the room was hysterical with laughter — and Jack, big, husky, shirt-sleeved Jack, stood there, the picture of the world's most miserable man.

Farmer's Diary

Farmers Look Ahead

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WATCHED a farmer pull the last high, broad load of hay out of the field, into his barn. It made long shadows on the ground, and the tractor looked like a toy pulling the massive load.

Somewhat later I stopped outside the barn door. The farmer was up among the rafters, pitchfork in hand. He grinned at me, wiping his face with a big blue handkerchief.

"It's all in," he said. "That last forkful is all that will stick up here. I've rolled four bunches down under the eaves, and there isn't any more room."

"How'll you get it out, for feeding?"

"Always did get behind it and roll it down!" his eyes twinkling. "Makes the barn good and warm this way."

Every farmer enjoys the feeling of comfort and safety that comes from a barn full of food for his animals. Granaries with bins of wheat and oats; corn cribs heaped high with yellow corn; silos full of juicy ensilage; mows bursting with hay and big ranks of bales besides. Stock to feed it to—and a farmer is happy.

It's a feeling that grows upon the country man—it's the climax of his year, that day when finally he is ready for winter . . . ready to take care his family and his livestock comfortably on all the snowy days.

It used to be that the farmer's wife counted on filling rows and rows of shelves with canned fruit, canned meats and jelly. Now, most of the Honey Creek farm homes are equipped with deep freezing units. Butchering has become a custom job. Even the homemade bread is frozen and kept indefinitely.

Farmers aren't isolated, either, from every kind of sports and fun. Within a few minutes drive of most of us are riding clubs, golf courses, swimming pools, dancing and roller skating, while telephone, radio, television and mail delivery brings the world news to our living room. And those farmers who do not have the modern equipment, such as we Byerses of Honey Creek, are behind the times.

Living hand-to-mouth, from a grocery store, is the urban way. Most farmers still enjoy to have stocks of food on hand. I wonder if that, too, will change. I hope farmers may never lose that pride and joy they possess in being to a degree self-sufficient.

Timely Editorial

Politicians With Painted Faces.

The Democratic convention is going to be remembered for its not-so-whimsical attention to facial retouching, whatever else may be said about it before the week is out and thereafter. For the Democrats have boldly committed themselves to the policy of applying actor's make-up before confronting the television camera whereas at least one prominent Republican delegate considered the use of face greases, paints and powders for the purpose last month in Philadelphia, then timidly decided against it.

In importing a make-up expert from Hollywood, the Democrats simply wanted to be sure of looking their telegenic best. A public long accustomed to regarding national party conventions as an entertainment spectacle more than anything else is unlikely to condemn political performers for borrowing one more trick of the theater in order to make themselves look as appealing as possible.—Kansas City Star.

Daily Bible Thought

We have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.—2 Cor. 5:1.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Catches At a Straw."

This is an old proverb, known to recorded literature for three and a half centuries, and doubtless older in common speech.

In the "Contemplations" of Bishop Hall, which date 1612 to 1615, we find the thought expressed in this way:

"The drowning man snatches at every twig"

Not until 1748, however, in Richardson's novel, "Clarissa," does one find the expression recorded just as we use it today:

"'A drowning man will catch at a straw,' the proverb well says."

And the reference to its proverbial standing indicates that in the interval since Bishop Hall's expression, the saying had circulation in the people's speech.

MISS MORRIS BECOMES BRIDE IN CHURCH RITE

Dr. John H. Steinkraus, Schenectady, N. Y., Officiates for Marriage of Son and Bride.

BOUFFANT white nylon marquisette was combined with crisp white taffeta to make the pretty summer wedding dress worn yesterday afternoon by Miss Barbara Annette Morris for her marriage to the Rev. Warren Edward Steinkraus. The bodice was fitted with a rounded neckline and full, bracelet length sleeves. The very full skirt was ballerina length and was trimmed with dainty taffeta bows. The bride's headpiece was a halo of plaited nylon marquisette. She completed her costume with white suede sandals.

Miss Morris, who is the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, 342 Davis road, and Rev. Steinkraus were married at 3 p. m. Thursday in the Park avenue Baptist church. Dr. John Herman Steinkraus, father of the bridegroom, officiated and he was assisted by the Rev. Mathew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church. Dr. and Mrs. Steinkraus are of Schenectady, N. Y.

Mrs. Albert Twitchell presented an organ recital preceding the ceremony and the soloist was George Lake.

Palms and ferns banked the altar and white gladioli, purple and lavender asters and fever few filled the two wrought-iron beauty baskets.

Mr. Hazeltine gave Miss Morris in marriage.

The bride carried a small cascade bouquet of shattered carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Joyce Louise Steinkraus of Schenectady, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's maid of honor. Her only other attendant was Miss Elizabeth Louise Pagnard of Mansfield. Miss Steinkraus and Miss Pagnard were identically gowned in ballerina length dresses of light blue taffeta. The drop-shoulder necklines were edged with matching berthas. The side-fronts of the skirts were draped so as to gather into bustles at the backs. Their costumes were completed with small wrist mitts and gold sandals. Each carried a small cascade bouquet of fuchsia gladioli.

Mrs. Hazeltine wore a grey street-length dress which she complemented by a natural straw hat trimmed with a flower to match her dress. Her corsage was of deep rose-colored roses.

An aqua crepe-nut afternoon dress was chosen by Mrs. Steinkraus for the wedding and with it she wore a white feather hat and other white accessories. Pale pink roses composed her corsage

Dr. William E. Hulme, Columbus, served Rev. Steinkraus as best man. Ushering the guests to their pews in the church were Albert C. Andrews jr., Berea, and Bernard H. Bell, Mt. Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazeltine were hosts at an informal reception given for the couple. Approximately 100 guests were greeted. Purple, lavender, fuchsia and white asters decorated the mantle in the living room of the home. The bride's cake centered the dining room table which was decorated with lemon leaf.

Mrs Steinkraus was wearing a navy blue dress and white accessories when she and her husband left for a wedding trip to Canada and the Thousand Islands After July 25 the couple will be at home at 31 Parkman street, Dorchester, Mass., where the bridegroom is a clergyman.

Both young people were graduated from Baldwin-Wallace college with A. B. degrees. Rev. Steinkraus received his S.T.B. degree from the Boston university School of Theology.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were from Columbus, Berea, Rochester, N. Y., and Schenectady.

'Sally' Series Joins Ranks of Popular Books For Children

SERIES of books are always popular. I remember when I was younger reading the "Oz" books, the "Anne of Green Gables" series, the "Five Little Peppers," etc., most of which no longer exist. The series in the Children's Room that people read mostly nowadays are the Carolyn Haywood "Betsy" books, or her series about "Penny." (There's a new one coming. Watch for it!), the series of biographies of famous Americans, and the Wolder books, about Laura.

There is another series which is just as interesting, but for some reason or other less read So that you won't go on missing them I want to call your attention to the "Sally" books by Elizabeth Coatsworth.

Most of her books are favorites of mine. Elizabeth Coatsworth writes about New England, Cape Cod and Massachusetts, the places I know as well as you know the corner of Fourth and Main. The "Sally books" are laid in Maine, and all around the world.

AWAY GOES SALLY is the first In this Sally's uncle decides to move from south of Boston to a farm in Maine. One of her aunts is glad to go, but Aunt Nannie refuses to leave her own hearth and fireplace. Uncle Joseph was smart. He figured out a way to move, and not make Aunt Nannie leave her own hearth and fireplace. The solution was the first trailer The journey was long and difficult In the days after the Revolution there were no trucks, trains not even good roads. It was an eventful journey with a peddler and a bear sharing the honors.

FIVE BUSHEL FARM starts in Philadelphia, where young Andrew Patterson, living with the Titcombs is told over and over that his father must be dead. His ship, "The Fair American" is long overdue Mrs. Titcomb has a dream, and her slightly foolish husband follows it, to a place that she has dreamed of—for that is where they must live. The Titcombs were not good to Andrew and when they came to Uncle Joseph Hallet's he took Andrew. So Andrew meets Sally—and their two lives are joined. Another of Sally's aunts helped Andrew find his father and there was a wedding soon after.

In The Fair American Sally and Andrew sail with Andrew's father to France. There the French Revolution has just taken place. The leading character is Pierre, the son of a French nobleman who is fleeing for his life from the revolutionists. Andrew's father was able to help Pierre and Sally and Andrew had a new friend.

The most exciting of all the series is The White Horse. Sally and Andrew had sailed to the Mediterranean with Mr. Patterson. Arab slave dealers and pirates capture the ship and everyone on it is sold into slavery. Through the months of captivity Sally, Andrew and Mr. Patterson learn courage and patience. Their dangers are many, and always at hand. You'll thrill to Sally's bravery, and love Andrew's quiet courage and enjoy the final daring dash to safety.

Just as there is the most excitement in The White Horse" there is the most romance to WONDERFUL DAY, the last of the series. In this Sally, Andrew and Pierre are grown-up, or nearly so and Sally has to choose between them. This one, especially, is for older girls

Only the main thread have I tried to give you here—many interesting and exciting incidents are entirely omitted. A few more hints—How did Five Bushel Farm get its name? How did Pierre get to Captain Patterson? Where did the Titcombs go? Who was the mysterious stranger in "Wonderful Day?" And how did Sally's childish friendliness in one book pay a big reward in another?

Dorothy Kilgallen

Voice of Broadway

You Meet Such Interesting People "And It's the Little Things About Them That Fascinate You."

Liz Whitney, though wealthy and beautiful, has been conspicuous for her contempt for dressing up—except, that is, when she's interested in a new man. So friends who have studied her foibles were not too surprised by her recent marriage to an attractive young doctor. You see, she had turned up at the Spring Horse Show Ball wearing symptoms that Cupid was in the vicinity—a glamorous dress, a chic coiffure, and a new silver blue mink coat

Dorothy Lamour will wait quite a long time, she vows, before she takes her two-year-old son, Ridgley, shopping again. On a recent expedition into the new Magnin's in Beverly Hills little Ridge walked away from his mom, politely took himself over to a lady seated at the glove counter, opened her handbag, extracted the change purse therefrom, beamed "Thank you, lady" and nonchalanatly toddled off. Dottie blushed as she never had in technicolor, retrieved the loot and returned it to the understanding stranger in record time—but she considers it her most embarrassing moment of the year

Mayor William O'Dwyer, Gotham's first citizen, adores fried onions. Often he'll devour a whole plateful of them while he's waiting for the steak to arrive

Ex-Champion Mickey Walker, who has wandered through a series of careers since he left the prize ring (he's been, among other things, a painter), amuses and awes his friends on occasion by whipping out his prized memento a canceled check for one million dollars. It represents what he made and spent when he was champ

Bob Hope is the most nervous golf player in Hollywood—much to Bing's chagrin. He'll pause in the middle of an important putt to greet a friend and make a quip, then, with a minimum of effort he'll nudge his ball into the cup

Dom DeMaggio loves it when the Red Sox play New York so he can spend his evenings in Leone's kitchen learning recipes from Gene Leone for his San Francisco cafe. Brother Joe is a Leone's hound too,—but strictly in the eating department. Stoves and mixing bowls don't interest him

Frank Capra has focused his personal camera on every star of every picture he's ever made. His picture-making hobby is as brilliantly executed as his film directing, and the walls of his California home are completely covered with celebrity likenesses lensed by Capra. In most cases, the stars feel his are the most interesting "still" shots over taken of them.

Betty Betz, the teen-age writer, designer and illustrator, sleeps in a white bed tufted in bright, bright red material. Fatso, her dachund sleeps in a miniature duplicate of same, which is parked right next to Betty's.

Although she's only 25 years old, Mrs. William Powell (Diane Lewis) knows the lyrics to almost every hit song written during the past forty years, and obligingly sings them on request whenever an orchestra or a piano is on the scene. It's a tribute both to "Mousie's good memory and the fact that she was "born in a trunk" as the show business saying goes. Bill Powell has his vocal moments, too, if he can find three friendly souls who'll cooperate, he loves nothing better than warbling the fancy notes in a Barber Shop Quartette.

When Maude Adams lived in obscurity in Manhattan, she managed her transportation about the city in an antiquated taxi whose driver was at her beck and call at all hours of the day. Legend had it that the hackman refused to accept any other fare until he had loitered at her curb long enough to make sure that Miss Adams was not going out that day. Now Jane Pickens seems to be enjoying a similar situation. A cabbie who makes his stand near 277 Park avenue, where Jane dwells, is demonstrating the same kind of fealty to the pretty songstress. He telephones her apartment twice a day to ascertain whether his services will be required. In a town where taxis are at a premium, Jane is doing more than all right!

Headboard Beds Are New

By ELEANOR ROSS

RECENTLY we visited an exhibit of sleeping equipment and came away filled with gratitude for the handsome beds of today.

We gazed upon the huge monstrosities of the Middle Ages, ornately carved and heavily encrusted with jewels. We saw models of beds and couches used by the Ancient Greeks and Romans, in which much use was made of ivory, gold and silver. And we didn't care so much for the big five-to-seven-piece bedroom sets that were the style until a comparatively few years ago. Today it is the a la carte style of bedroom furnishings that appeals to most of us, the scheme of which starts off with a headboard bed.

Simple and Attractive.

It would seem that of all the bed styles in history, the headboard bed is the simplest, yet the most attractive. It requires a minimum of bed-room space, in marked contrast to the beds of yesteryear. And since it lends itself to any type of fabric or material for upholstery, it offers a good nucleus for the decorating scheme.

For example, we have seen headboards upholstered in sail cloth, monks cloth, corduroy, chintz, gingham satin, taffeta and velvet not to mention leather, leatherette and plastic. Florals, stripes, plaids, checks, polka dots all have been used. Bedspreads, draperies and dressing table skirt can be made to match or blend giving colorful continuity to the decorative scheme. And when it comes to a change of pace with the advent of a new season, why a new bedspread with a matching piece to slip over the headboard takes care of a change of decor.

New Styles In Fur Coats Forecast For Winter; Fur Purses Shown

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The straw basket bag will hang on women's arms through next winter—with a fur cover.

Mink, ermine and other fur baskets, priced from $195 to $650, are being shown by Esther Dorothy with all her best fur coats.

A tiny, flat tray-like model in ermine or broadtail is designed to sit tidily on a restaurant dining table.

There's a squarish comfortable utility type for all-day carrying, and a large-sized oval that looks just right for carrying home the milk bottles.

Each is built on an actual straw basket lined with colored taffeta and fitted with a zippered fur lid. And you can have them to match or contrast with any fur coat you can dream of.

Many of the coats button all the way down the front for complete windproofing. Others have drawstring waistlines that hug them snug against a hard breeze. They flare out and hang straight for balmier days without a trace of the string.

This designer has also gone practical for traveling. An ocelot coat is shown with a back slit that rises above the waist so the fur can be parted and never be sat on. A single button below the waist keeps it in line when upright.

Designed particularly for travelers who have to curl up in an overnight plane are "sleeper shawls"—eight foot long stoles in a variety of furs which have snapper arrangements to give them armholes for evening wear or maybe a pocket for hanky and comb.

For dressy wear, Miss Dorothy is partial to broadtail. She has dyed both that fur and sleek seal to a handsome navy blue for several coats. But the most glamorous broadtail is a two-tiered black cape fully lined in gold.

A high, empire line is worked into a classic mink coat with cross banding to good effect. Collars on many of the Dorothy coats are shaped to playing card symbols with wiring to keep the hearts, spades, clubs and diamonds in shape and up around the ears if necessary.

Horoscope

For Saturday, July 17

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

The astral intervention on this day is designed to provide a tincture of charm, beauty, inspiration and idealism into realistic endeavors already well established on firm bases. It is probable that a touch of the idealistic and subtle might enhance all prospects built upon creative ideas tinged up by the mysterious or intriguing. Secret agreements of clever tactics might be brought into the open by direct objective actions rather than crafty undercurrents.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves disposed to resort to the finer and more subtle approach in assisting objective and forthright propositions. Ideals and intuitions might combine to appraise very sordid and realistic values.

Secret agreements or undercover understandings may be shrewdly applied to promote established projects. The element of charm, beauty, magnetism or highly developed emotional appeal might be brought to bear, where cruder tactics fail.

A child born on this day may have well-developed intuitions or inner leads of an emotional or spiritual force. It may gain its ends by subtlety, intrigue or glamor rather than crass realism.

Navy Shifts Key Spot Commands

Admiral Bogan To Head Pacific Fleet

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Changes in several key fleet commands were announced yesterday by the Navy.

Vice-Admiral George D Murray, commander of the first task fleet, Pacific, will be succeeded by Vice-Admiral Gerald F Bogan, commander Air Force, Atlantic fleet

Admiral Murray has been appointed commander of the western sea frontier and the Pacific reserve fleet, with headquarters in San Francisco.

Temporarily, he also will be commandant of the 12th naval district. Vice-Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, now commander battleships-cruisers, Atlantic, will take over the twelfth district command later.

It could not be learned immediately whether McCormick will lose a star and drop down to rear admiral in his new shore assignment. Recently the Navy has been downgrading its district commandants and those holding similar jobs to the two-star rank.

McCormick will be relieved of his fleet command by Rear Admiral Allen E. Smith, chief of staff at the Naval War college.

No successor was named to Admiral Bogan in the top Atlantic fleet air job

In another shift, Rear Adm Francis P Old, deputy commandant, on the armed forces staff college, Norfolk, Va, will relieve Rear Adm Frederick I Entwistle as commander of amphibious group three, Pacific.

Admiral Entwistle, co-designer of the famous Norden bombsight, has been assigned to the bureau of ordnance, Washington, D. C.

Rear Adm Richard H Cruzen, senior member on the naval sentence review and clemency board, has been given command of cruiser division eight in the Atlantic

Rear Adm Robert O Glover, commander of the U S Navy hydraulic office, Washington, D. C, is being relieved of duty preparatory to retirement Sept 1 No successor has been named

State Grants Fare Boost

COLUMBUS —(NS)— The state utilities commission granted an increase Thursday in all intrastate railways' passenger fares in line with the Interstate Commerce commission order of July 7.

The increase is effective July 19 under both orders

According to the new rules, one-way basic fares in coaches will be increased 20 per cent, and 14 3 per cent in sleeping and parlor cars

The order continues a minimum 15 cent fare in coaches and sets up a minimum 10 cent children's fare.

The commission said round-trip fares would be raised in proportion generally with the increases in one-way fares However the order sets up two exceptions

1 Under the three-month layover plan for round-trip fares the charge for distances up to 225 miles will be increased four cents per mile and will decline to approximately 3 6 cents per mile at 700 miles

2 Layover coach fares under the new plan will be increased approximately three cents per mile up to 225 miles and the increase will drop to about 2 28 cents per mile at 500 miles.

What's In Your Future?

Glamor and Service Offered Nurses

What chance does a nurse, who graduates from Mansfield General hospital, have for advancement after she completes three years of training here?

That is one of the most frequent questions student nurses ask, according to Wayne A Copeland, superintendent

"If a nurse feels after graduation that she doesn't want to confine her profession to Mansfield, she can always go on and get her master's degree for a supervising or other higher job,' Copeland said.

Or she can enter the Army or Navy, either of which is always in need of nurses There is plenty of glamor awaiting the student who decides to make nursing her career and also plenty of chance for service A high school graduate who chooses nursing as her career has unlimited opportunity beyond her initial three years' training"

Graduation from General hospital's School of Nursing makes a nurse eligible for her state examination and in consequence eligible for service in any state of the union, according to Copeland.

From a monetary standpoint, it's about as good a profession for a girl as any these days, Copeland said.

A graduate nurse at the hospital here starts at $185 per month and in addition to the cash consideration receives her three meals a day and the laundering of all her uniforms

"If you consider the cash value of these two things, meals and laundry, then a graduate nurse really gets about $245 to start with She may go as far as she likes after she gets started," Copeland said

JULY 17, LAST DATE

At the present time, seven more nurses can be accommodated in this September's class. But they must have their applications filed before July 17, the date set for final examinations for prospective nurses.

While in training the students live in the pleasant nurses' home adjacent to the hospital. Everything is done there to make their off-duty hours happy and interesting ones, according to Miss Carrie Beal, supervisor of nurses.

For the first six months of a student nurse's training she is on a probationary training period. Then she is capped and becomes one of the hospital's needed staff. After the six months, she begins to have contact with the patients and feels that she has really started on her nursing career.

Miss Beal said today that she will be glad to take any high school graduate and her parents through the nurses' home and show them the kind of a place the student will live in while in training.

Gold Plane Forced Down

SYDNEY, N. S —(NS)— Nine persons were slightly injured Thursday when a Belgian air line DC type carrying millions of dollars in gold bullion for New York made a forced landing at Reserve Airport, Cape Breton

All the injured were members of the crew.

Trouble developed when the plane was flying at an altitude of about 8 000 feet

Coal Outlook for Winter Painted as Gloomy by Dealers

City Dealers Forecast Price Hike

Consumers Advised To Place Orders

Mansfield coal dealers painted a rather gloomy picture today for families who fail to order their winter's fuel early. They forecast a possible shortage of coal this winter and increased prices.

Although coal shipments are reaching Mansfield pretty regularly now, they are expected to slow up before cool weather sets in until the coal situation is at least as tight as it was last year.

One dealer said he expects the shortage to become severe after the first of the year. Shortage of cars to transport the fuel, miners only working about half time, and the large amounts of coal being used by lake boats are contributing to the anticipated shortage, he said.

DON'T BE PARTICULAR

Dealers advise householders to place their orders for coal now and not to be too particular about the type of coal they request.

"If you can't get your first choice, better take next best," they advise.

All coal companies already are busy filling orders and most of them are booked solidly with orders until fall. One company has more than a thousand tons on order on which delivery has not been made.

Most dealers have increased their quoted prices in line with the increase in wholesale rates. Increases range from 35 cents to 75 cents a ton. Dealers who have not raised their prices expect to do so within the next week.

If freight and transportation charges go up, there will be a further increase in coal prices. At the present time prices vary from about $11.50 a ton for Ohio coal to as high as $17 a ton for the better grades of West Virginia and Kentucky coal.

New Line Shown In Chicago

Mansfield-Made Pumps on Display

The Gorman-Rupp company here will display a complete new line of centrifugal self-priming contractors' pumps at the forty-fifth annual road show of the American Road Builders association in Chicago. The show begins today at Soldiers' Field and will continue through next week.

As part of the exhibit, Gorman-Rupp engineers have constructed a 30-foot high contraption designed to show spectators the case with which the new pumps will lift water.

At the bottom of the Rube Goldberg-looking machine is a water tank divided into six parts while three pumps are mounted on a 30-foot pole which rises from the center of the tank. Pumps are mounted at 10, 20 and 30-foot levels and are each connected to the tank with two 2-inch glass pipes.

By draining the intake pipe, engineers are able to demonstrate the self-priming action of the pumps as they gradually force the air back out of the pipe and draw the water in.

DIRECT WATER FLOW

Through an adjustment of water gates between the tanks, engineers can direct the flow of water from one tank, through the intake pipe to the pump, down the outlet pipe into another tank and then back into the first tank again.

By partially closing the water gate between the two tanks, engineers can demonstrate how to solve a problem frequently encountered by contractors . . . how to keep a hole dry when water is continually seeping in.

This ability to retain its prime, they point out, is one of the best features of the new pumps.

To those who know their pumps, the fact that one of them is mounted 30 feet from the ground is of great significance.

NOT DONE YET

It was explained that even with a perfect vacuum, it would only be possible to lift water 34 feet with a centrifugal pump. So far, this has not been done.

In fact, pump manufacturers, including Gorman-Rupp, guarantee their pumps for only 20 feet although most of them will do 25. The new pump will easily remove all the air from a pipe and lift water 30 feet in just 45 seconds.

The pump at the 20-foot level started water flowing through the cycle in 30 seconds, while the pump at the 10-foot level got things moving in 12 seconds.

The new contractors' pumps are made in sizes ranging from two to eight inches and with several varieties of power units. All in the new line are designed to be easily portable.

Other industries in the area exhibiting in the show include the Superior Equipment company, Bucyrus, the W. A. Riddell company and the Bucyrus and Galion plants of the Galion Iron Works.

Two Millers Head Lions

James W. Miller headed a list of 12 new officers of the Mansfield Lions club who assumed their duties at recent installation ceremonies at a dinner meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Ivan M. Eshelman, Ashland, former district governor, presided.

Other newly elected officers installed were: Emmett A. Miller, first vice president; Milton W. Hess, second vice president; Joseph R. Roby, third vice president; Alvin H. Fankhauser, secretary; Claude F. Ewing, assistant secretary, Peter J. Mayer, treasurer, Robert F. Horn, tail twister, George S. Condos, lion tamer; Glenn M. Anderson, George W. Hart and Ralph E. Juniper, board of directors.

Von Davis will remain on the board of directors for another year.

Alexander Turner, James W. Miller, Kenneth L. Sloan and Homer L. Dent were presented with five-year 100 per cent attendance pins. Turner also received a past president's ring as the retiring president of the club.

Five Awards Granted Cubs

Mansfield Cub Scout pack No. 9 has awarded five advancements to four cubs at a wiener roast at Mifflin Lake roadside park for pack members and their parents.

Cubs receiving the advancement awards were James Welsh, Ronald Bacquet, Robert Stone and Dean Botzer.

Dale Heston was graduated to Scout Troop No. 9 and was welcomed by troop members Hyfen Selman and Thomas Sgrow.

Frederick Smith, cubmaster, officiating at the parents night meeting, presented a cash award to Den No. 4 for winning first place in a recent bird house building contest.

Malabar Leases Rights to Gas

A supplemental agreement granting gas and oil rights to 587 acres of the Louis Bromfield farm in Monroe township to the Ohio Fuel Gas company was filed yesterday with the Richland county recorder.

Terms of the agreement included payment of $200 per year by the gas company to Broomfield in quarterly payments beginning Dec. 1, 1948.

Musicians Entertain

Approximately 80 members of the Mansfield Kiwanis club, meeting Thursday in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, enjoyed an after-luncheon musical program presented by the Smart music studios.

Among the selections were an accordion band march; "Make Believe," soprano solo sung by Mary Shreffler, "Tell Me a Story," baritone solo, by Edward DeWitt; "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," a tenor solo by Jerry Hanley.

Miss Schreffler, Edward DeWitt and Jerry Hanley alternated in singing several duet selections, which included, "People Will Say We're In Love," "Now Is The Hour," and "McNamara's Band."

Eugene Smart, program director, received the congratulations of Kiwanis club members on the program. A. G. Earnshaw, Kiwanis club president, presided and Scott F. Coffin served as program chairman.

Akronite Admits Non-Support

Richard Johnson, 39, of Akron, pleaded guilty to a charge of non-support of three children yesterday in Probate court and was ordered to pay $6 per child, or $18 each week.

Johnson was returned to Mansfield Tuesday by Sheriff Frank E. Robinson. The complaint stated he had failed to provide for the children since Feb. 20 of this year.

Butchers, Too, Dislike High Price Jump Taken By Meats

NEW YORK —(UP)— Butchers here today assailed high meat prices and said they would sponsor a public mass meeting to demand congressional action.

The New York State association of Retail Meat Dealers, representing 3,000 butchers in the city's five boroughs, said all consumer groups would be invited to the rally, which will be held before the special session of Congress.

Samuel Morganroth, attorney for the association, said the retail dealers are absorbing a part of the increased wholesale prices and feel that "this is a common fight affecting ourselves as well as our customers."

"We are just as much against these high prices as the consumers," he said. "And if the housewife doesn't believe us we can tell her that a large percentage of the retail meat dealers in New York City find themselves at the end of the week without a decent week's pay."

University Doctor Believes Best Polio Treatments Vary

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

NEW YORK — (AP) — The best treatment for infantile paralysis, Dr. William T. Green, of Harvard university told the first international polio conference Thursday, may vary from person to person and season to season.

"Some reports," he said, "would indicate that the only way to treat poliomyelitis is by the Kenny method. Others have not been able to confirm this.

"More recently, use of curare with strenuous manipulation has been advocated. This is described as producing superior results. Others say it is of no value. Likewise, prostigimine, has been advocated as of great value and there are reports it has no effect.

"These conflicting reports are certainly confusing, but not nearly so much as seems at first glance. There may be many ways to accomplish an objective that has been overlooked by many. The Kenny technique, for example, although described as a new treatment, has much in common with other methods of treatment.

"Whatever else its virtues, the work of Miss Kenny has caused a re-valuation of techniques and in particular has had a salutary effect upon those who used prolonged immobilization in treatment."

Illustrating the changeable nature of polio from year to year, Dr. Green said that in 1947 only 40 per cent of the patients at a Boston hospital were discharged in three weeks. But in 1945, 90 per cent were discharged in three weeks.

He said treatment has to be adapted to specific problems presented by each patient. Dr. Green said that in the Kenny treatment, splints and casts are described as harmful. But in his opinion braces are valuable if used properly. Also that they can be discarded later. The principles he advocated are moist heat, gentle exercise, later active exercise, and avoidance of fatigue. He held that hot baths are valuable.

Strike Takes Odorous Turn

DAYTON —(INS)— The month-long strike at Dayton's Univis lens plant took a new turn Thursday—an odorous one that required hospital attention for some non-strikers.

Early yesterday 10 workers, nine of them women, were passing through the picket line when someone laid down a barrage of gas which Univis Vice President Roy Marks identified as "skunk oil."

The union denied that any of its United Electrical Workers had any part in the attack.

Pershing Funeral Scheduled Monday

U. S. Mourns General's Death

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Nationwide memorial observance of the death early Thursday of General John J. Pershing has been called for by President Truman to honor the man who led American forces to victory in World War I.

Funeral services will be held at Arlington National cemetery Monday afternoon. A previous memorial observance will be held Sunday in the Methodist church of the general's home town, Laclece, Mo.

General 'Blackjack' Pershing survived a long army career to die in retirement at the age of 87. He was a soldier to the end, foreseeing the approach of World War II, and constantly thinking of his nation's defense.

A casual, youthful glance at a newspaper reshaped the life of John Joseph Pershing from a school teacher into a soldier. After this change, he knew no duty save to the flag he served.

In that spirit Pershing led America's armies to France in 1917, armies that were to number 2,000,000 men before the end and were to play a powerful part in the outcome of the greatest conflict in history.

In that spirit too he came home after the war, to din almost endlessly into the ears of his countrymen the grim lessons of the price of national unpreparedness which he had seen in heavy casualty lists and in the months of delay before those armies could face the foe.

The newspaper paragraph, telling of competitive examinations for West Point, caught him at a moment when life as a schoolmaster palled. He jumped to meet opportunity, won his way into the national military school on the Hudson, graduated in 1886 and climbed to the extraordinary rank for life of General of the Armies of the United States.

On Sept. 20, 1906 be became a brigadier general. In 1914 he was serving on the Mexican border under General Funston.

Because of the virtual campaign status of his command, General Pershing left his wife, nee Miss Helen F. Warren, and his three daughters and son at his quarters at the Presidio, San Francisco. In the night of August 27, 1915, the residence burned, Mrs. Pershing and three daughters perishing in the flames and his son, Warren, being saved only by the devotion of a nurse.

Although grief-stricken by the tragedy, Pershing continued his military duties, eventually to become General of the Armies, a post previously held only by one other man, George Washington.

WEST POINT CADET—Years of service to the nation started when this portrait was made.

ON FRONTIER POST—Just out of West Point, Second Lieutenant John J. Pershing was pictured in 1886 on the old frontier at Ft. Bayard, N. M., with officers and families of the Sixth U. S. Cavalry—his first regiment.

FIFTY YEARS AFTER—Exactly half a century after his graduation from West Point, Pershing was back in 1936 as a general—to warn the academy cadets "No one can tell when we shall again need our armies."

ON VILLA'S TRAIL—Still a brigadier, Pershing was pictured in Mexico, trailing Pancho Villa.

Auto Borrower Went Long Way

CANTON—(AP)—When McArthur Reese borrowed the automobile of a gasoline station proprietor here to take some groceries home, he failed to mention that he considered Macon, Ga., as his home, the owner, Carl Price, complained to police.

Informed that Reese was under arrest in Macon, Price filed an affidavit for his arrest charging criminal conversion of property.

Exports Go Down a Bit

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Total U. S. exports to Marshall Plan countries in Europe and Asia totaled $393,700,000 during May. A slight drop from the April total, the commerce department announced.

ECA countries in Europe accounted for $344,100,00 of the total. Exports to Turkey and China totaled $49,600,000.

The totals, prepared by the commerce department's bureau of the census, reflect all exports to Marshall Plan countries whether or not they were financed by ECA.

The $393,700,000 total was more than $10,000,000 below the $404,500,00 April figure. During the first three months of 1948, average monthly export total was $402,200,000.

Imports from Marshall Plan countries were up to $78,700,000 in May from $76,900,000 in April. The first quarter average was $86,500,000.

France, occupied Germany, Italy and Great Britain received the major share of the May exports.

Synthetic Issue of 'Civil Rights' Sets Dems Clawing at Each Other

PHILADELPHIA—The synthetic issue of "civil rights," which finally set the two breeds of convention Democrats to shrieking and clawing like so many crazy Frenchmen, had been deferred with horrible apprehension all week while a sub-committee of a sub-committee groped among the subtleties of pig-Latin, double-talk and Carolina geechee for a paragraph couched in harmless but resounding euphemisms.

It was a hopeless quest. The northern clique, a mongrel kidney produced by wanton cross-breeding of socialists, communists and ivy-league misanthropes, with occasional infusions of despondent Teutonic and Scandinavian blood from the grain and lumber states out west, had no particular use for the Negro, himself, as the ghettoes of the north do prove.

But they have always had a surly hatred of the southern Democrat's confident air of racial superiority and the late Franklin D. was the one power that had kept them from inciting race riots during his reign.

Actually, under Roosevelt, the Negro had enjoyed no more familiarity with the white folks than he had under Coolidge, who just ignored the question, except that in Roosevelt's presidency, in underworld resorts of New York, rich white trash, excluded from decent company within their own tribe, went gallivanting under a pretext of democracy.

★

The Negro's Gain was Dubious honor and cultural novelty of brief association by night with Caucasian outcasts in a type of hoe-down with political undertones.

There is an old formula, familiar to the kind of editorial writers who wear green visors and write ringing denunciations, which the gentler statesmen would have employed in these difficult phases of their party's declaration of principles.

It holds for "loud adjectives and weak verbs." And it has often been used by both parties in the past. Indeed, the late Woodrow Wilson ennobled it in much of his correspondence with the German government in 1915-16.

And inasmuch as this plan often has appeased malcontents and preserved peace and unity, the yearning of the boys in the smoke-filled room this week was by no means despicable. In the end, the obstreperous continentals from the New York political slums refused to be denied their issue and their fight. The results were sure to be sad and bloody in time.

The debates of the sub-committees on these poignant problems will be heard often again as original material throughout the nation during the campaign.

The Truman party, no longer the Democratic party of sixteen years ago and certainly not the party that sent Harry Truman to Washington as senator, will try to take virtue to itself to depict Tom Dewey as a Simon Legree.

But if there is one thing that Mr. Dewey does better than he does all others in his go-downs with the Democrats it is to see their promises and go them several better.

★

If They Promise to Abolish Segregation in the army and to exonerate Negro patriots who disobey, Mr. Dewey will have no reason to stop there. After all, his own party came to be known as Uncle Tom's Cabin in many northern cities a quarter of a century ago because the Republicans first hit upon the idea of rewarding colored loafers from the ward and precinct organizations with sinecures in the city halls and state capitols, even as the white ones were rewarded.

U. S. State Department Fails To Tell Facts About Grand Mufti

NOTES OF A NEW YORKER—Simple to savvy the reluctance of the State Dep't to spotlight the Grand Mufti's pro-Nazi record. It would arouse American public opinion and might force the Dept of State to exhibit a glimmer of decency. . . . Therefore, let's make it public here. Last week a U. S. war crimes court at Nuremberg came up with documentary evidence proving the Mufti received $40,000 from the Nazis. . . . Not only that: It was the Mufti's influence which forced the Nazi Gov't to reject Red Cross offers to evacuate Jewish children from Rumania to Palestine.

Yet that type of unspeakable no-good now has the support of Loy Henderson and others in the U. S. Gov't ! ! !

★

It is easy to understand Eisenhower's refusal to accept the Democratic nomination: Why should he step up to save the Democrats—when Truman won't try to save his party—by stepping down?

★

The State Department has announced it will take full responsibility for the Voice of America starting in September. . . . There is no truth to the rumor that the first broadcast by the State Department will feature the Grand Mufti, sponsored by a well-known oil company. . . . This is to tell the State Department again that it is assuming responsibility abroad it does not dare take at home—by opening its files. . . . This is also to inform it that its so-called secrets will be an open scandal and the biggest campaign issue—long before November.

★

Just two years ago this week the Administration rebuked alarmists "on the radio" who saw a deepening diplomatic crisis. . . . Recently the Associated Press reported a strong communist drive for southeastern Asia including Burma and Malaya. . . . The U.N. Balkan commission reported that the Balkan situation was precarious. . . . In the Middle East full scale war was expected by mid-month in Palestine. . . . And last week Winston Churchill said Berlin was a second Munich and that even a firm course "might not prevent war."

★

This is what happens when you hand communists the benefits of democracy: Klement Gottwald and his communists enslaved Czechoslovakia—murdered Jan Masaryk—and forced Benes to quit.

In 1929 Gottwald was elected a member of the Czech parliament. At that time he used his freedom of speech to warn Benes' party: "We are here to break your necks, and I promise you most solemnly, we will do it."

But Gottwald's threat wasn't taken seriously.

13,000 Get Mail Today By New Plan

Postal Changes Effected Smoothly

More than 13,000 residents of the Mansfield area started receiving their mail today under a revised system of distribution.

All equipment was rearranged yesterday and clerks began to work the mail according to the new system as soon as the last carrier came in from his route.

Last night residents of the Springmill road area were still transferring boxes in preparation for the new set up. The final ones were transferred by the light of the moon and automobile lights to meet the post office deadline.

"It's going to be grand today getting our mail right in front of our own door," one resident commented. "It's been quite a walk for some of us up to Springmill road. Now we feel as if we really belong to the city of Mansfield."

This morning carriers on rural and city routes left the post office about 8 a. m. The mounted route, put into service for the first time, was delayed slightly.

Residents on the mounted route should advise all correspondents to include the words "mounted route" when addressing mail to them, Ford said.

He added a word of advice to people who have been changed from one rural route to another or from a rural to a mounted route. "If you subscribe to a magazine, newspaper, or other publication, notify the publisher at once of your change in address."

The new system ran smoothly at the start. "But we expect mistakes to be made on the routes, although the bulk of the difficulty will come in the distribution here in the post office," Ford said.

If mistakes are made, the post office will appreciate being notified. "We will be glad to have patrons come in or call us if they have a mistake to report or wish additional information."

Ohio Street 'Cut' Opens

Work was complete today on the opening of Ohio street, between Wood street and Sturges avenue, with a spur connecting it with Blymyer avenue.

At present, Wood street, between Cline and Glessner avenues is being graded, preparatory to paving. To facilitate travel east on Ohio street, past Wood street, the minor grading work was done.

Cars traveling east on Ohio street have been turning south on Wood street and then into Glessner avenue to get downtown from the southwest section of the city.

With the opening of Ohio street between Wood and Sturges, motorists will cross Wood and go straight through to Sturges or Glessner. That section of Ohio street has been closed for several years. It passes through an empty lot just north of Ritter's Run and the site of an abandoned city dump.

LOT OF FALLING—Broken line indicates the path of the 30-foot fall that resulted yesterday in injuries to David L. Carto, a summer-time street department employe. Carto slipped while moving lumber for workmen laying a new floor on the South Mulberry street viaduct. He fell 30 feet into the weeds, then rolled another 20 feet to the edge of Ritters Run creek. Although bruised and cut, his most serious injury was a fracture of the left wrist. Today, young Carto, a 1948 graduate of Mansfield high school, was nursing his injuries at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis F. Carto, 340 Davis road. Young Carto plans to enter Ohio Wesleyan university in September.—(News-Journal photo by Glenn Prosser)

PLEASANT SURPRISE—

Eighteen members of the Mansfield "Y" Century Cycle club received a pleasant surprise Thursday afternoon. Following a trip through the Shelby Cycle works and the plant's cycle museum, the company delighted the boys by paying their admission for the afternoon at the Shelby swimming pool. The club members thus showed a profit for the day. They had been told to bring 15 cents, along with their picnic lunch, to cover the admission charge.

INDIANS AT CAMP—

War whoops echoed throughout Hidden Hollow camp yesterday as the "Indians" descended on the camp in full redskin regalia. It was the "special" day at the camp, planned weekly by Mrs. Mary Gimbel, associate director. Yesterday the camp lodge and grounds were named "The Land of Wishy-Washy" and wigwams, and tepees dotted dining room tables and the grounds. The chief, John Robbins and his squaw, Mary Ella Sauer, held council throughout the day and watched the antics and maneuvers of their braves as they went through appropriately-named contests and games.

Renews Year-Old Appeal

Requests Vote On Bond Issue

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn today asked city council to place on the November ballot a $500,000 general indebtedness bond issue to finance a major, five-year storm sewer overhauling program.

He thus renewed the plea he made almost a year ago. The request he made July 23, 1947, subsequently was turned down by city council.

In today's letter to council, Mayor Vaughn outlined the developments of the past year, pointing out that a storm sewer rehabilitation program cannot be financed from present operating funds.

"A year ago," Mayor Vaughn wrote, "I proposed a sewer program consisting of a 13-point sanitary sewer program and a $500,000 bond issue for storm water relief.

"Council at that time approved the 13-point sanitary sewer program, but rejected the bond issue. Over the past year we have been able to carry out, on a limited basis, part of the 13-point program and will continue to do so as sanitary sewer funds are available.

REPAIRS URGENT

"But storm sewers must be repaired, cleaned and built from general taxation and with the present operating costs, it is impossible to appropriate money for the program."

The chief executive cited the costly damage caused the city by flooded and torn-up streets and the damage to individual property owners through overtaxed sewers, flooded basements, and yards.

Sanitary sewer work is limited by funds made available by the sale of sewer service. Since last July, several points in the 13-point program drawn up by the mayor with the assistance of Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier have been put into effect.

ADJUSTMENTS MADE

The sanitary sewer department has been working to eliminate storm water from the sanitary sewer system and sanitary sewage from the storm water system, has made adjustments of industrial sewer charges to reflect actual use of sewage facilities by industries, and has made improvements as the sewage treatment plant and constructed several new sanitary sewers.

The mayor's request was turned down last year because the finance committee termed it a "bad time to offer a bond issue."

This point was not explained, but city hall observers indicated that the fact that it was a municipal election year influenced council's decision. This is not a municipal election year.

If the measure is put before the people and approved, the bonds will be of the general indebtedness variety and will necessitate an increase in local taxes.

9,500 Start On Vacation

Two Large Plants Close For 2 Weeks

More than 9,500 employes of two of Mansfield's largest industries start today a two-week vacation. They will not return to their jobs until Aug. 2.

Approximately 2,500 employes of the Mansfield Tire & Rubber company and more than 7,000 employes of the Westinghouse corporation are affected by the mass shutdown.

Only maintenance and construction workers will remain on the job at the two companies.

Earlier this month the Tappan Stove company and the Mansfield Brass and Aluminum corporation closed for a week to give employes a vacation. Those vacations began with the July 5 holiday and ended July 12.

Other factories are staggering their workers' vacations throughout the summer. They do not plan any general shutdown until they take inventory late in December or January.

USO Will Reactivate To Aid Inductees

The Mansfield Community Chest yesterday afternoon received word from the National Community Chests and Councils, which is made up of the 1,000 Chests in the United States, that Secretary of Defense Forrestal had requested the re-activation of the USO.

According to the word received by Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary, the request was made by Forrestal to permit establishment of USO centers in camps in which youth called for service under the peacetime draft will serve.

The national organization pointed out, Mrs. William said, that the USO would request inclusion in the fall campaigns of individual Community Chests, including Mansfield.

A meeting of a number of representative Chests will be held in Chicago, Friday, July 23. Mansfield has been asked to send a representative to this meeting. Mrs. Williams said W. E. Slabaugh, president of the Mansfield Community Chest, probably would attend.

During the war, the USO was the recreational center for service men in United States army camps and cities. Richland county organized a campaign in 1941 which raised $6,500 toward the maintenance of USO camps. In June 1942, an additional $10,000 was contributed in an individual drive.

By the fall of 1942 the Mansfield Community Chest had organized the Richland county War Chest and in October of that year raised $50,000 for the USO. A similar amount was contributed the following year and in 1944, $40,000 was procured through this medium for the organization.

During the war two USO units were established in the county. One had headquarters at the YMCA and the other at the Mansfield airport, both recreational units.

Members of the Teen Time reading club of the Mansfield Public Library will present two plays at the Aug. 5 and Aug. 12 meetings. Members are now working on the plays which were taken from books which they have read for the club.

The club held a picnic and swimming party at Liberty park recently. Hermina Rehberg was chairman.

Helen Meister will preside at the next meeting.

Firm Postpones Liquidation Plan

NEW YORK —(INS)— Prospects for re-opening the Pharis Tire and Rubber company plant at Newark, Ohio, appeared somewhat brighter today.

Directors of the company meeting in New York postponed liquidation of the plant and said they hoped "an equitable solution" to the labor problem could be found within the next two weeks.

Burglars Seeking Tools, Get Smokes

Burglars who broke into an office and tool shed of the Cousins junk yard on Front street got two packages of cigarets for their trouble.

Sheriff's deputies, who investigated, said the burglary occurred during the night and that entrance was gained by prying off with a pick a staple that held the padlock.

They said tools were scattered about, but none taken. The burglary was reported to deputies by Albert Cousins, general manager.

Lorain Police Won Pay Hike By Ballot But Force Reduced

The plan of the Mansfield policemen and firemen to submit to a vote of the people their plea for wage increases follows a pattern successfully tried in two other Ohio cities.

Just after World War I, safety department workers of Lorain succeeded in getting the question of wage increases on the ballot and won very substantial pay boosts as a result of the favorable public action.

In Lakewood, about 10 years ago, the police and firemen started circulating initiative petitions to put a wage increase ordinance before the people. But before election time, the Lakewood city council granted wage increases matching those proposed and the petitions were withdrawn.

As in the proposed Mansfield ordinance, the Lorain measure of 1919 failed to stipulate how the money needed for the increases would be raised.

SIZE OF FORCE CUT

As a result, about a year after the increases were voted by the people, council cut the strength of the police and fire departments for lack of sufficient funds to pay the wages made mandatory by the voters. The Lorain police and fire departments did not return to the 1919 strength until just a few years ago.

In the 1930's, when all cities were financially hard-pressed, the Lorain council was not able to reduce wages to compensate for reduced income because they were legally bound by the ordinance. Most other cities and the state of Ohio, as well as counties, generally reduced wage levels during that period.

Mansfield's city council, however, has a number of possible fund-raising methods to which it could resort. It could follow the lead of a number of Ohio cities in adopting a payroll or city income tax similar to the one that voters in Columbus approved as a means of helping the capital city out of a financial dilemma.

It would issue bonds in an amount not to exceed one per cent of the taxable property in Mansfield, and pay the interest from general operating funds.

They could go to the people and ask them to vote additional taxes to finance the wage increases.

They could cut down certain capital improvements during this period of high prices and use the funds to pay wage increases.

Realty Tax Receipts Slow

The amount of real estate taxes collected by the county treasurer's office fell off yesterday. Only $15,116 was paid in, compared to a high for the collection period of $100,528 Wednesday.

However, Treasurer Charles C. Payne pointed out that Wednesday's collections consisted in part of large payments by utilities and corporations.

Yesterday's collection consisted of many payments in small amounts.

Total collected so far is $672,820. The sum of $1,012,000 is due by 4 p. m. Tuesday.
